Bullet Misses Venizelos, But Wife Is Shot

Assassin Tries Vainly to Slay Former Premier of Greece.

His Chauffeur Also Is Wounded in Attack on Motor Tour.

Athens, Greece, June 6 (A.P.). An attempt to assassinate Eleutherios Venizelos, several times premier of Greece and a leading European statesman for many years, failed late tonight, but shots fired by an assailant wounded his wife and chauffeur.

Mme. Venizelos suffered four bullet wounds.

An assassin fired upon them while they were motoring from Kiphissia to Athens.

Former Premier Venizelos, who is 69 years old, probably is most famous as a foe to royalty. His half century fight for democracy in Greece gained him the name of "the modern Ulysses" of Greece.

He was called one of the greatest statesmen in Europe by President Wilson. His fight against the monarchy was not always favored by Grecian citizens, as evidenced by their overthrow of his government and recall of King Constantine before the World War.

He served as premier for the eighth time early this year. Defeated in elections in early March, he was succeeded by Panayoti Izaldaris, Royalist party leader, who pledged allegiance to the republic last fall.

French Queen Aspirant Succumbs in Chicago

Chicago, June 6 (A.P.).—The French representative in the competition for queen of the Chicago World's Fair—Mlle. Lyette Teppas, of Paris, died in a hospital early today. Physicians said acute peritonitis following an attack of colitis was the cause of death. She was 29 years old.

She had been ill since leaving France and was able to attend only two days of the festivities for the fifty-one winners of contests conducted for selection of beautiful girls to attend the fair as members of the queen's court.

2 Children Smothered During Play in Ice-Box

Greenville, Tex., June 6 (A.P.).—Playing in an ice box, Bettie Jean Lynch, 7, and her brother, Ted, 3, were smothered to death today when the lid of the box fell shut.

When their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lynch, returned from their work in the fields tonight they missed the children. A search revealed their bodies in the ice box.

Southwest Heat Wave Results in Five Deaths

Kansas City, Mo., June 6 (U.P.).—A heat wave that resulted in at least five deaths swept over the Southwest today. Four of the deaths were due to drowning, as thousands of persons sought relief in swimming pools.

Numerous cities reported temperatures of over 100 degrees. At Pratt, Kans., the reading was 111, while several places, including Wichita, Winfield, and Anthony reported 110.

World Control Urged Over Traffic in Arms

Geneva, Switzerland, June 6 (A.P.). The United States favors international supervision of armament manufactures and control of arms traffic, Norman H. Davis told the disarmament conference steering committee today.

He said there should be "publicity and a system of licensing for the manufacture and export of arms." Supervision should apply to both government and private manufacturers, he asserted.

U. S. ENTANGLEMENT IN CHACO WAR SEEN

American Company Protests Bombing of Property by Bolivians.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Grave possibility that the United States be drawn into the imbroglio of the Chaco war between Bolivia and Paraguay exists here today following the receipt at the Department of State here of vigorous protests from American interests there. Two American firms have protested against the bombing of their factories in the Chaco by Bolivian airplane squadrons recently.

The International Products Co., of New York City, and George E. Lohman, proprietor of one of the largest estancias in the world, have asked the United States to take action against the Bolivian government on the charge that Bolivian airplanes have bombed repeatedly their plants and factories at Puerto Pinasco. The New York company at this Paraguayan town on the Pilcomayo River has built the largest tannery in the world and at the same time maintains a 60-mile private railroad and 4,500 head of cattle, and a large packing house.

Mr. Lohman is a former partner of Tex Rickard and went to the Chaco with the late fight promoter 15 years ago. He brought a vast estancia and has been raising cattle there for export ever since.

The charges contained in the two complaints now on file here and being studied with constant anxiety by Assistant Secretary Francis White and Undersecretary William Phillips, specify that on April 27 six Bolivian planes crossed the border and dropped several bombs on the property of the Americans, causing a very considerable amount of damage and killing several cattle. No human lives were lost, however. Since that time the Americans in that vicinity have appealed in vain to the local authori-

House Gets Bill On Hawaii Today

(Associated Press.)

House Democratic leaders planned yesterday to jam through the once-rejected bill to give President Roosevelt the power he wants to name a nonresident of the Hawaiian Islands as governor.

"And it will pass with a good majority this time," predicted Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic floor leader, as he outlined plans for bringing up the measure today. "We lacked only three votes yesterday of having the two-thirds necessary, and nobody contends that we will be beaten again tomorrow."

Different procedure, however, will be followed, and this time the bill will need only a majority for passage.

California Kidnap Law Now Exacts Life Term

Sacramento, June 6 (A.P.).—The penalty for kidnaping in California was increased today from 10 years to life imprisonment under the terms of a bill signed by Gov. Rolph today.

The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Frank O. Martin, Altadena newspaperman, provides that persons convicted of kidnaping shall be punished by life imprisonment without possibility of parole in cases where the victim or victims suffer bodily harm, or by life imprisonment with possibility of parole in cases where no violence is inflicted and upon recommendation of the trial jury or in the discretion of the trial judge.

CAPITAL FUNDS BILL FATE IS IN PARLEY TODAY

House Body Firmly Holds Senators Must Quit Higher Figure.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

House conferees on the District appropriations bill have delivered a virtual ultimatum to the Senate conference group. A special meeting of senators will be held this afternoon to debate it.

This became known last night after Senator Elmer Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, asked Senate conferees on the local supply measure to meet with him at 2 p. m. today.

If the Senate conference group votes to accept the House proposition, it means the District will get only a $5,700,000 "lump sum" from the Federal Government, and must pay $1,000,000 back to the Treasury for Federal advances on parks.

Another Deadlock Impending.

If they reject the House conference ultimatum, it means another deadlock similar to that which developed last session, and might even result in the death of the District appropriation bill.

Senator Thomas said last night that appointment of new conferees might even be necessary. The only other alternative, in the event of a deadlock, is passage of a resolution continuing the present appropriation, which terminates June 30, another year.

House and Senate conferees have held only two formal sessions on the District appropriations bill, but have come to practical agreement on everything but three or four pivotal issues.

House Apparently Obdurate.

On these, the House conferees, headed by Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri, and House Appropriations Chairman James P. Buchanan, refuse to budge.

They have virtually told the Senate conferees that they must do all of the yielding, in return for which they offer to make certain so-called concessions.

If the Senate will yield on the matter of "lump-sum" and park-land repayment, the House will allow funds for construction of the Woodrow Wilson High School and one other school structure, and for building the Calvert Street Bridge, they have said, in effect.

But the Senate bill provides for construction of four new schools, all of which school officials claim are absolutely necessary to relieve present crowded conditions. These include additions to the Deal and Browns Junior High Schools and the Logan Elementary School.

The Senate has been asked by the House group, which provided for no school construction in its own bill, to

Mollisons Again Delay London-New York Hop

London, June 6 (A.P.).—James A. Mollison and his wife, Amy Johnson, who had hoped to leave Croydon tomorrow for a flight to New York, again postponed their attempt tonight.

The Mollisons are planning a triple record breaker by flying nonstop to New York, thence back across the Atlantic to some point in the middle east or near east, and then again to England.

Envoy Slain

Afghan Minister, Brother of King, Shot in Berlin by Countryman.

Berlin, June 6 (U.P.).—A brutal murder, tinged with the mysterious political intrigues of the East, shocked Berlin today when a youthful assassin shot and killed the Afghan minister to Germany, Sirdar Muhammed Azmis Khan.

The slain man, 55 years old, was the eldest brother of King Mohammed Nadir Khan, of Afghanistan.

The assassin was identified as Kamal Siyd, 33, an Afghan well known in diplomatic and social circles in Berlin.

Siyd, apparently knowing the minister's habits, appeared at the entrance of the legation as the diplomat emerged for a stroll. The younger man ran up the steps of the legation and began a political argument.

The assassin charged the minister with infidelity to Afghanistan and cried:

"You sold out the fatherland to England."

He then drew a pistol and shot twice before the khan was able to respond.

Indiana, Pivot State, Tenth to Vote Repeal

Wets Lead, 2 to 1, With Most of Precincts In; Delaware to Allow Beer; Alabama Drys Plan House-to-House Canvass.

Indianapolis, June 6 (A.P.).—Indiana today became the tenth State to vote in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Incomplete unofficial returns showed that repealists had mustered sufficient votes to control the convention to be held June 26 at which the State's stand on ratification will be formally registered. There will be 329 delegates to the convention.

Ratificationists rolled up the 165 votes necessary for a majority by carrying all of the larger counties of the State and many of the smaller ones.

The delegate apportionment to counties was based on population with one to each 10,000 citizens.

Ratification received a large popular vote. In 2,025 of the State's 3,691 precincts the vote for ratification was 338,133 and against 156,818.

Indiana had been regarded by some prohibition proponents, among them Bishop James Cannon, jr., as the pivotal State in the repeal battle.

Wilmington, Del., June 6 (U.P.).—Delaware's three counties—Kent, Sussex and Newcastle—dry under local option, repealed their dry law today by a majority of three to one. This vote now allows the sale and manufacture of beer in the counties.

Birmingham, Ala., June 6 (A.P.).—Prohibition forces of Alabama today prepared for a "battle to a finish" against repeal of the eighteenth amendment with two house-to-house campaigns planned before the voters cast their ballots on July 18 to select delegates for a convention to act on the twenty-first amendment.

The set-up to make the canvass was outlined this afternoon by Charles Rice, Mayor of Homewood, who earlier had been designated as State campaign manager.

Those favoring repeal met recently in Montgomery and selected Col. Alfred M. Tunstall, of Greensboro, as manager of their campaign.

"In my judgment, Alabama will be the first State in which the drys will carry the election," said Rice in addressing a rally called by the Alliance Against the Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

RECIPROCAL TARIFFS OPPOSED IN REPORT

Commission Advises Rigid Adherence to Policy of Unconditional Pacts.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

A strong recommendation that the United States adhere rigidly to its recent foreign policy of unconditional commercial treaties is contained in a report of the United States Tariff Commission, made public yesterday.

This recommendation opposes President Roosevelt's plan for reciprocal tariff treaties.

In response to the resolution of Senator Costigan approved by the Senate last January, the Tariff Commission submitted a voluminous report covering the foreign trade of the United States during the last ten years with every important commercial nation in the world.

The warning against reciprocal tariff agreements is a high point of the commission's summary.

Because it comes at a time when the American delegation to the World Economic Conference is on the high seas, the report is of particular interest on Capitol Hill. If present plans are carried through, President Roosevelt soon will ask Congress for broad authority to negotiate individual tariff treaties with the principal world powers. The commercial policy thus far outlined by the President and Secretary of State Cordell Hull is diametrically opposed to the recommendations in the report.

Although the commission's report was submitted to the Senate by Chairman Robert L. O'Brien under date of March 20, the detailed statistics upon which recommendations are based have never been made public by the Senate Finance Committee. Some members of the Finance Committee have not yet seen the documents. It is understood, however, that members of the American delegation to the London conference were armed with all the material when they sailed from New York last week.

The First Lady flew here from Phoenix, Ariz., on the last stage of her flight, accompanied by her second son, Elliott, and several friends.

INCOME TAX PROBE OF MORGAN IS VOTED

Senators Will Bare Firm's Stock Transactions as Affecting Levies.

(Associated Press.)

Senate investigators yesterday voted overwhelmingly to examine J. P. Morgan & Co. partners about stock transactions affecting their taxable incomes, but for the present continued to study the Van Sweringen Railroad domain with its Morgan financing links.

The decision regarding income tax inquiries was made by the Banking Committee by an 11-to-6 vote after a hotly argued two hours behind locked doors while the Van Sweringen brothers—O. P. and M. J.—waited to testify and J. P. Morgan joked with his aids in the warm hearing room.

John W. Davis, Morgan counsel, challenged the committee's authority to drag out into public income tax returns made secret by law, while Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, replied that his questions to young Thomas S. Lamont were within the scope of the inquiry.

The senators adopted this resolution:

"It is the sense of this committee that it should inquire into the practices of buying and selling securities as such practices may affect the taxing powers of the Government; but inasmuch as the legal right of the committee to proceed along this line of inquiry is challenged, the committee should proceed immediately with railroad, public utility and all other phases of the investigation and the

7 Tied as 2 Bandits Rob Doctor's Home

Morgantown, W. Va., June 6 (A.P.). Tightlipped police tonight are seeking the two holdup men who burst into the home of Dr. Ernest Bell, Wadestown veterinary, trussed up seven members of the family last night and fled with cash, bonds and coins reported worth about $50,000.

Like the police, the family refused to reveal the amount of money taken, nor would they fully discuss the holdup. After tying up those in the house, the thugs went to a second floor bedroom where they led the veterinary and forced him to open his safe.

It was reported unofficially that the robbers obtained $100 in bills, 4,000 pennies and about $50,000 in Treasury bonds. These were said to be registered and nonnegotiable.

MATTERN LATE SPEEDING EAST TOWARD CHITA

Texas Aviator 10 Hours Behind Time Set by Post and Gatty.

Omsk, Siberia (Wednesday), June 7 (A.P.).—Nearly half a day behind the world-girdling record he hopes to beat, Jimmie Mattern was shooting over interior Siberia today toward Chita, 1,700 miles due east of here.

Favorable weather ahead and a half a day on the ground here with its refreshing sleep were factors to aid him in making up the advantage he lost yesterday.

The Texan took off from here at 1:10 a. m. Moscow time (5:10 p. m. Tuesday, Eastern standard time).

10 Hours Behind Time.

As his plane cleared the ground, he was just 10 hours 41 minutes behind the pace set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty when they set the world circuit traveling record of 8 days 15 hours and 51 minutes in 1931.

Mattern left Omak just 3 days 12 hours and 50 minutes after his departure from New York for his record-breaking transatlantic flight to Norway.

Post and Gatty passed over Omak 3 days 2 hours and nine minutes after leaving New York, flying on to Novosibirsk. It is recalled they encountered trouble later, plunging into a mudhole at Blagovestchenck, where their plane was mired for 14½ hours.

Wing Strut Broken.

Mattern landed here just 54 minutes ahead of Post and Gatty's time, arriving from Moscow at 1:35 p. m. Moscow time yesterday (5:35 a. m. Eastern standard time Tuesday). A wing strut broken in landing was repaired here yesterday. Mattern covered the 1,400 miles to Omak from Moscow in 12 hours, 21 minutes.

On arriving Mattern first gave attention to his plane, making sure that it was thoroughly inspected and being tuned up, then went off to bed.

The Soviet aviation authorities at Omak were "awfully good to me," the American flier said. He was given food in abundance and was put to bed at the airport when he had satisfied his hunger. At the same time attendants were reloading his ship with fuel.

Jersey Newspaperman Killed in Italian Crash

Bologna, Italy, June 6 (A.P.).—Charles Hooper Trask, 39, a newspaperman and native of New Jersey, was reported killed today and his wife, Claire, 44, gravely injured when their automobile left the road and fell over a 45-foot precipice near Bolsano, Trentino, about 150 miles north of here.

The Trasks had been living in Berlin.

W. S. Farish Elected Standard Oil Chairman

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—W. S. Farish, of Houston, Tex., was elected chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey today. The position had been vacant since the death in November, 1928, of George N. Jones.

Christy Payne, treasurer of the company, was elevated to a vice presidency. A. C. Minton, president of the Pan American Foreign Corporation, a subsidiary, was elected secretary; T. C. McCobb, formerly assistant controller, was made controller, and R. G. Stewart was placed in charge of domestic marketing.

Rescue Lost

Boy, 14, Saves Two Chums From Crocodile, but They Die Later.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, June 6 (A.P.).—The story of how a 14-year-old boy battled a crocodile to save two companions from death in the River Apure, only to see them die of their wounds on shore, reached here today from San Fernando, Venezuela.

The boy, Ramon Eloy, in his canoe, saw Abel Prada, while bathing, dive almost into the jaws of a crocodile. Ramon paddled to the rescue and pounded the reptile until it released the boy.

Joseph Lujo, another bather, helped draw the boy toward shore and was himself attacked. Shouting to a woman to care for Abel, Ramon again fought the reptile, winning Joseph's release.

Then a school of caribes, tropical fish with teeth, attracted by the blood, added their thrusts to the crocodile's. Both rescued boys died of injuries.

Veterans Cuts Are Modified By Roosevelt

Howe Denies

Influencing Purchases of Toilet Kits for Forest Camp Workers.

(Associated Press.)

Louis McHenry Howe, President Roosevelt's secretary, told the Senate Military Committee yesterday flatly, but with a smile, that he had not sought to influence the purchase of toilet kits for conservation camp workers.

Meanwhile, the committee called upon Be Vier & Co. Inc., of New York, to submit its list of stockholders in answer to a request of Senator Carey (Republican), Wyoming, under whose resolution the inquiry is being made into the ordering of 200,000 kits from that company.

Carey said he wanted the list "because of rumors that prominent persons are involved," but declined to identify either the persons or the sources of the rumors, which arose after Army officials had said the kits could be duplicated for from 75 cents

ARMY AND NAVY MEN ATTACKED IN HAWAII

Unemployed Gangs Declared by Service Sources to Prey on Pay Day.

Honolulu, T. H., June 6 (U.P.).—An alleged outbreak of attacks on Army and Navy men here by civilian gangs has caused concern in high military and naval circles, it was reported tonight.

It was understood Gen. Wells and Admiral Yates Stirling had sent reports to Washington.

Lieuts. Leroy Hudson and Walter Lee, Army aviators, were being treated in a hospital tonight, after allegedly being beaten by civilians. Arthur Carter, Melvin Pack, Brede Karratti and John Kamana were arrested as suspects.

The officers, driving with women companions, were halted by another machine and allegedly beaten. Unconscious, they were left on the banks of the Alawai Canal, near the place where Thalia Fortescue Massie was attacked last year.

Hudson was treated for a fractured nose and a possible fractured jaw. Lee suffered severe abrasions of the head and face.

Police denied there had been an unusual number of battery cases. Service sources said the number was great, although the increase was not attributed to antagonism between service men and civilians. Unemployment, service men said, has created gangs for whom sailors and soldiers become prey on pay days.

Heat Fells Three; Wave to Continue

The weather man hung his "fair-and-warmer" sign out last night, informing a sweltering Washington that little relief could be expected today unless local thundershowers drop in during the afternoon. A sudden rise in temperature after yesterday morning's shower felled three people in the streets and sent panting Washingtonians scurrying for parks and the cooling breezes along the Speedway. The high temperature was 87.

Ernest Stephens, 1521 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, collapsed against a showcase in a store at 1821 Fourteenth street northwest, and was cut about the head. He received treatment at Emergency Hospital and was removed to his home.

Five-year-old Kathryn Zanellotti, of 438 K street northwest, was treated at Casualty for heat prostration. Her condition is not serious. Charles Keyes, a colored fireman aboard the steamboat District of Columbia, was overcome while at work on the boat at the Norfolk & Washington Steamboat Co. Wharf. He was taken to Providence Hospital.

Record Hot Day Drives Chicagoans to Beaches

Chicago, June 6 (A.P.).—More than 100,000 Chicagoans basked on the beaches today while thermometers registered the hottest day of the year.

The mercury stopped its upward climb at 92, a new record for June 6, and dropped 11 degrees in the next half hour after noon as a breeze came in from Lake Michigan. Park officials said the beach crowds exceeded 100,000, while an unusually large crowd visited A Century of Progress Exposition.

Action Not Expected to Satisfy Leaders in Congress.

Veto Held Certain if Connally Amendment Stays.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

President Roosevelt yesterday modified the slashes in payments to veterans, but indications were that the modification would satisfy neither the veterans nor their champions in Congress, of whom leaders believed there were probably enough to override the President's veterans' program.

Modification of the original slashes was contained in regulations approved by the President which were sent to both House and Senate in an effort to stem the rising tide of rebellion against the veterans' program of the administration.

Pay Increases Seen.

Under the new regulation no veteran suffering from service connected disability would have his compensation reduced more than 25 per cent and the average reduction would be only 18 per cent, a White House analysis said. Spanish-American and other war veterans would in many cases receive increased payments under the new order, it was said.

The Grand Canyon of disagreement which divides the White House and the veterans' representatives, however, was what should be done about payments to the thousands of veterans now on the Government pay roll because of various injuries which have bee legally "presumed" to have had a connection with their various periods of service in the Army.

As passed by the Senate, the independent offices' appropriations bill carried the amendment proposed by Senator Tom Connally (Democrat), of Texas, limiting cuts in payments to a maximum of 25 per cent not only for "service-connected," but for "presumptive" veterans, as well. The Senate was in a mood to limit reductions to 15 per cent, and only the vote of Vice President Garner broke the tie and won the administration the restricted 25 per cent leeway.

Steering Committee Meets.

Speaker Rainey and members of the Democratic steering committee and other Democratic leaders of the House met in executive session yesterday in an effort to settle the dispute, but came to no definite conclusion in the face of the determination of the sentiment in the House in favor of the veterans. Representative James P. Buchanan (Democrat), of Texas, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, was given an opportunity to work out some sort of a compromise which would be acceptable to both the President and the majority of the House and Senate.

Leaders to Meet Today.

The Democratic leaders are to get together again this morning and study the question in view of the modified cuts fixed by the President yesterday afternoon and whatever Representative Buchanan may have to submit.

Meanwhile consideration of the independent offices bill will be held up a day or so while the leaders try to

WOODIN ANNOUNCES $900,000,000 ISSUE

Securities to Provide Funds for Financing Industrial Recovery Program.

A popular security issue which is expected to reach a billion dollar total to be used to meet maturing debts, pay interest on the public debt and furnish funds to inaugurate President Roosevelt's industrial recovery program was announced last night by Secretary Woodin.

The Secretary sought to make the issue popular with the small investors and secure their cooperation by reserving the right to allot in full all subscriptions of $10,000 or less, even if it should become necessary to increase the amount of the offering to do this.

While Woodin called for "$500,000,000 or thereabouts" on five-year 2½ per cent Treasury notes and "$400,000,000 or thereabouts" on nine-month thre-quarter per cent certificates of indebtedness, the acceptances generally are greater than the minimum figure set and are expected to reach the billion dollar total.

Mature in Five Years.

The issue will comprise the third large financing effort of the present administration and will bring the total of the securities issued in those major steps to $2,372,000,000. In March the Treasury sold approximately $800,000,000 of securities and in April added $572,000,000 to that amount.

The interest on the notes to be sold next week is the same as that on the last issue sold in April and the interest rate on the certificates is the same as that on similar securities sold by the Government in February.

In March, however, the administration was forced to sell the $800,000,000 of certificates running for nine months at 4¼ per cent because of the banking conditions at that time.

The Treasury notes will be dated June 15 and mature in five years. The certificates will bear the same date and mature next March 15. Both are exempt from all forms of taxation except inheritance and estate taxes and the notes are not subject to redemption call until the maturity date.

Seeks Many Partners.

The money derived from the sale will be used to pay off $374,000,000 in maturing certificates and about $104,000,000 interest on the public debt due June 15. The remainder will start into motion the administration's industrial recovery program.

The action of the Treasury Secretary in reserving the right to allot in full all subscriptions up to $10,000 or less follow his wish that as many persons as possible be induced to "become partners with the Government" and invest in its securities.

In his April financing, he reserved the same right in an effort to secure a wider distribution of the securities and be certain that the small investor would be able to get part of the issue.

During the past several years large financial institutions generally have taken the Government's security issues as fast as they were offered.

rounding the documents, it was said yesterday that the material probably would not be released to the Senate generally until President Roosevelt determines what form of tariff-negotiation authority he will ask Congress to delegate.

The Costigan resolution, approved in the last session of Congress on January 28, 1933, called for the most comprehensive and exhaustive study of recent trade relationships ever undertaken by the administrative branch of the Government.

The commission recommends that "the bargaining should be as far as practicable on the basis of unconditional most-favored-nation treatment." This is the policy to which the United States has adhered without exception since 1923.

Basis of Arrangements.

Throughout all American history tariff arrangements with foreign nations have rested principally on the most-favored-nation basis, although there have been several unsuccessful attempts to achieve reciprocal tariff bargains with some of the lesser powers. None of these attempts ever worked out satisfactorily for the United States.

A second recommendation from the commission was that even should bilateral tariff agreements be negotiated by the United States, "Congress should by law extend the concessions so made, immediately and unconditionally," to all other countries. This recommendation is a vigorous warning against a series of bilateral tariff treaties, such as were advocated by Secretary Hull in his pre-London discussions of tariff policy.

Regarding the proposal for a general multilateral tariff treaty, the report declared such an arrangement practically unworkable.

Difficulty in Bargaining.

"It must be remembered," the report says, "that tariffs are so complicated that multilateral bargaining on individual articles must be regarded as impossible; no multilateral bargaining can be envisaged unless the nations can agree on some simple formula applicable to all tariffs."

If the President wishes to undertake, through the American delegation to London, to launch a world-wide tariff bargaining treaty, the United States must be prepared for a horizontal reduction in prevailing tariff rates, the report indicates.

"For multilateral bargaining, if that be desired, the law should authorize the President to proclaim a general reduction in all tariff rates within certain limits (e. g., a uniform 10 per cent limit) if he finds a sufficient number of other countries willing to do the same."

Warnings Are Given.

The commission also warned against "illusory concessions," explained as reductions in trade barriers erected abroad in anticipation of the World Conference.

Another section reviews the history of American reciprocal bargaining since about 1850. In all this period, reciprocal tariff treaties have been realized only with Canada, Newfoundland, Hawaii and Cuba. Of these, only the special arrangement with Cuba remains in force.

Ten similar treaties were negotiated in the period with other powers. None of these ever became effective.

"It may be seen that it has been a matter of some difficulty and delicacy to obtain reciprocity treaties which would satisfy both parties to the treaty," this section of the report concludes.

Germany and League Reach Accord on Minorities Convention.

Geneva, June 6 (A.P.).—Germany will restore Jews in German Upper Silesia to positions they lost since the beginning of the Hitler regime, Friedrich von Keller, spokesman for the Reich, told the League of Nations Council today.

The council, which took up the Jewish question upon the petition of Franz Bernheim, unanimously adopted a report declaring that the boycott of Jewish shops in Upper Silesia and some regulations affecting lawyers, notaries and doctors are in conflict with the Polish-German minorities convention.

Italy joined Germany in abstaining from voting on this report.

Herr von Keller, who on behalf of the Berlin government previously had declined to accept the report, which was drawn by judicial experts, indicated to the council today that Germany would not take exception to it.

The German spokesman had sharp verbal exchanges with representatives of Czechoslovakia and Norway during the discussion of the jurists' report on the Upper Silesian situation of the Jews.

Christian L. Lange, the Norwegian member, was charged by Dr. von Keller with having challenged the good faith of Germany in suggesting that steps be taken to prevent local officials from misunderstanding the meaninng of general laws.

When the Jewish question was first brought before the council the German delegate said that if any infractions of the Polish-German convention had occurred it was because local authorities did not understand the situation.

Mr. Lange denied that he had cast any aspersion upon the good faith of Germany or had doubted the execution of her pledged word.

U. S. ENTANGLEMENT IN CHACO WAR SEEN

ties, who are powerless to act on account of the virtual state of war now existing between Paraguay and Bolivia.

The Argentine government a short time ago dispatched an almost peremptory protest to the Bolivian authorities over the same incident about the same time. The Bolivian government has failed up to the present time to indicate their intentions with regard to the Argentine protest. What has undoubtedly added considerable vehemence to the Argentine note is the fact that the Bolivian bombing expedition also dropped several explosives on the Argentine side of the river at Puerto Casada and almost destroyed part of the estancia of the son-in-law of President Justo of Argentina.

Spent in Great Britain.

The United States and Argentina have as a result found themselves in the same situation with regard to the torts to their nationals caused by wandering Bolivian airmen. The Bolivian minister here, Enrique Finot, called at the Department of State yesterday to see Assistant Secretary White with regard to the future action of the League of Nations in the Chaco incident. Minister Finot will leave for Geneva in a few days and the charge d'affaires of the legation will then be Enrique S de Lozada. However the United States is anxious to have assurances before the departure of the minister to protect these American firms from future attacks by the Bolivian forces.

Minister Bordenave of Paraguay referred to the Bolivian air attack yesterday when he recalled that the Bolivian army and military forces are being alimented by loans made from the United States but spent in Great Britain. The minister said:

"It is announced that Bolivia, after fighting for nearly a year, has decided to accept the proposal of the League of Nations in order to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Chaco.

Liabilities Total $60,000,000.

"The league sent its proposal two years ago. Paraguay accepted at once. Bolivia hesitated at that time because her army, under the leadership of Gen. Hans Kundt, was directing a powerful offensive against the Paraguayan positions. It is apparent, however, that the defeat of Bolivia has at last led her to Geneva. Here she hopes for peace since Paraguay has consistently and always been ready to accept arbitration.

"Paraguay has acquired armaments and supplies without recourse to any loans. Bolivia, on the other hand, has contracted several loans. In the United States her liabilities total $60,000,000 and she has not paid one cent to American bondholders since 1931."

Society to Study Relief Needs.

A meeting of the officers of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul has been called for tonight by George J. Cleary, president of the society here, to find ways of meeting the increasing demands for relief being made upon the society. Indications are that more than $60,000 will be needed.

subcommittee charged with the investigation be directed to report a resolution enlarging the powers of the committee as soon as possible in such manner as may be deemed necessary to enable it to inquire into the above practices."

Pecora said later he thought the committee's existing authority was ample, but agreed that while any doubt existed, more power should be asked of the Senate. Meanwhile, he turned to questioning O. P. Van Sweringen and found the going slow.

The railroad operator held frequent whispered conferences with his aids and Pecora not satisfied with his answers once appealed to Senator Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, the acting chairman, for assistance in getting a reply to questions about Erie Railroad stock acquisitions.

Barkley Asks Questions.

Barkley propounded the questions himself for a while then and received the same answers Pecora had. As on the opening day, the investigator sought to show the Van Sweringen rail interests were acquired with borrowed money.

Morgan and his partners looked on with an air betokening little interest, but were alert when Chairman Fletcher read the resolution his committee had adopted, Morgan himself leaning far over to catch the words and later conferring with Davis.

On the Senate floor Secretary Woodin was once again assailed for the presence of his name on a list of preferred Morgan clients in 1929. Robinson, the Indiana Republican, said President Roosevelt should remove Woodin "and if he doesn't the Senate ought to impeach" the Secretary.

To his charges that attempts were being made to "hamstring" the Morgan inquiry, the Democratic leader—Robinson, of Arkansas, replied promptly, assailing the Indianan for "raising any question of the honesty and sincerity" of the Banking Committee members.

Pecora's examination of Van Sweringen began with a reference to the Vaness company—a security holding company of the Cleveland brothers and their associates—and asked about a $1,700,000 advance it made to the Nickel Plate Securities Co. for purchasing 3,000 shares of Chesapeake & Ohio stock.

"The money was paid in reduction of an open account between the two companies," Van Sweringen replied, correcting previous testimony that it was a loan.

"I Don't Know" Repeated.

He said he was unable to discuss the origin of this open account, replying "I don't know" to half a dozen questions on this point. Frequently he conferred with Frank H. Ginn, a Cleveland attorney, and members of his staff.

Pecora asked where the Vaness company got the $1,700,000.

"The Vaness company at about that time got a loan from the Guaranty Trust Co. of about $3,000,000," Van Sweringen replied.

"Then this money for the Chesapeake & Ohio stock was not your money; it was borrowed?" Pecora asked.

"It was borrowed," Van Sweringen confirmed.

When the investigator asked whether the witness remembered putting up any of his own means in buying C. & O. stock, Van Sweringen replied:

"We provided the $1,700,000 out of the Vaness company."

"But didn't you just say the $3,000,000 of the Vaness money was borrowed?"

"We supplied it just the same," Van Sweringen contended. "We and our associates put up the collateral."

"Kindly Pay Attention."

Another lengthy question-and-answer period did not change Van Sweringen's reply.

At one point Pecora asked him to "kindly pay attention" and Van Sweringen asked the stenographer to repeat the question. Spectators laughed.

In his prepared testimony regarding growth of the Van Sweringen holdings, the operator had said the late George F. Baker increased his C. & O. holding coincidently with Van Sweringen purchases of the stock.

Pecora asked Van Sweringen whether he had "knowledge" that Baker did increase his holdings and finally asked Barkley to get a direct answer.

"Did Mr. Baker increase his holdings?" Barkley asked.

"I think he did," Van Sweringen said.

"Did he say he did," Barkley pressed.

"I don't want to put words in the mouth of a man who has passed away."

"We are not trying a criminal case," Barkley reminded the witness, "what knowledge have you of it?"

"From my talks with Mr. Baker I am confident he did. * * * I am sure he did."

Pecora gave up this line of inquiry to ask Van Sweringen where the Vanesa company obtained the funds to bring their C. & O. holdings during the period from November, 1923, to January, 1925, up to a total of 387,000 shares of common, 24,700 of first preferred and 52,600 of second preferred.

"Incredible" Lack of Memory.

"The aggregate consideration was $11,200,000?" Pecora asked.

"Yes."

"How did the Vaness company raise the money?"

"I can't answer that from the information I have here," Van Sweringen said.

Pecora said Vaness minute books showed the company borrowed $11,206,666 in the period from October 31, 1923, to February 6, 1925, and asked if this was the money used to buy the C. & O. stock.

"I'm not prepared to state," Van Sweringen said. "I can't recall."

Barkley rebuked the witness for his "incredible" lack of memory.

GUEST ARTISTS GAIN LAURELS IN CONCERT

Orchestral Society's Benefit Program Acclaimed at Y. W. C. A.

The Washington Orchestral Society garnered more laurels last evening as it presented a benefit concert at the Y. W. C. A. Hall, with Pianist Glenn Carow, Violinist Virginia Careton, and Soprano Jane Elsie Hastings as guest artists.

The little symphony, playing under the direction of C. E. Christiani, has in its short and eventful career, won a place of distinction among musical organizations of Washington. The orchestral selections of this concert included selections from Wagner's opera "Tannhauser," "Ase's Death," and "Anitra's Dance," from Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite," and Brahms' "Hungarian Dance, No. 5."

Mr. Carow played with professional abandon, Mendelssohn's "Concerto in G Minor," a number whose three movements—molto allegro con fuoco, andante, presto—demand much from the performer. Fulfilling the fondest expectations, the pianist, with orchestral accompaniment, contributed the outstanding number of the program, even bettering the orchestra's "Tannhauser" selections.

In the andante movement of Mendelssohn "Concerto in E Minor" and the Kreisler arrangement of Lehar's "Prasquita Serenade," Miss Careton demonstrated her mastery of the violin. She was accompanied by Mrs. F. Hubbard.

Miss Hastings' numbers, with Stanley Rayfield at the piano, included "Love's in My Heart" (Woodman); "Two in a Gondola" (Clarke), and "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark" (Bishop). Her voice, while of exquisite timbre, was not quite strong enough to militate successfully Mr. Westinghouse's ventilating devices. In her last number, the perennial delight of all coloratura sopranos, Miss Hastings was abetted by Flutist Chamberlain.

Since its first concert, which was really significant as a premiere, the Washington Orchestral Society has made tremendous strides forward. Although the brass section had a tendency last evening to obtrude upon the strings, the orchestra as a whole, seems much better balanced and with greatly improved musicianship.

SIROVICH PLAN DUE TO GET SHOWDOWN

Wheeler Assures Action for Appellate Board on Personal Troubles.

At least one more showdown this session on the Sirovich plan to establish a Federal "liaison officer" and a Civil Service Board of Appeals to iron out personnel troubles, was assured yesterday by Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), Montana.

Immediately following introduction of a new House bill yesterday covering the proposed reform, Senator Wheeler announced he would offer it in the Senate at the first opportunity as a "rider" to pending legislation.

The bill embodies changes written into the plan by Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York, following conferences with the Civil Service Commission, Budget Director Lewis Douglas, and various Federal employe groups.

If Congress does not adjourn this week, Dr. Sirovich said he will ask for hearings before the House Civil Service Committee on the measure.

Although the proposed "liaison officer" would be selected by the Civil Service Commission from 20-year employes under the new bill, the officer would be entirely independent of the commission or any other department of Government, Dr. Sirovich explained.

The officer would have the power to "investigate and adjust all differences between employes and their superiors." Department heads and employes would have a right to appeal from the officer's decision to a board of appeal, consisting of the three Civil Service Commissioners.

ROOSEVELT MODIFIES COMPENSATION CUTS

stem the tide of revolt which the veterans' lobby has been stirring with heart-rending exhibitions of veterans who would be stricken by proposed slashing of their compensation. They have brought before members of House and Senate blind veterans, veterans with mutilated faces, minus noses or ears, with stumps of arms and legs, to show the horror of what it is proposed to do in the name of economy. It is effective, entirely aside from whatever thought members may have of their political future.

Thousands of letters have been pouring in on members of House and Senate pleading the individual cases of the writers whose almost wild despair and feeling of injustice is patent.

Veto May be Asked.

Whether leaders will be able to stem the tide and whip into line sufficient number of votes to permit cuts in the payments to veterans who are not suffering from any disability incurred in war service remains to be seen. They are hopeful but not highly confident. If a blanket restriction of 25 per cent or less is written into the bill the President is expected to veto it. Some of the more enthusiastic representatives of the veterans declare they will have sufficient votes to pass it over his veto.

If the bill is passed with the Connally amendment, the National Economy League asked that it be vetoed. The request was made in a telegram addressed to President Roosevelt by Gilbert G. Browne, chairman of the managing committee of the league.

"The principle that our citizens fight for country and not for pensions must be established," Mr. Browne said. "This is the time to clinch this principle."

Speaker Rainey, in an address over a national radio hook-up last night, said that the Connally amendment challenged the national economy act, and, if approved, would mean the budget will again be out of balance.

"If it is adopted by the House and becomes a law it will be necessary for Congress to remain in session and by new taxes meet the deficit this amendment will create," the Speaker told the Nation. Referring to the President's new regulations, Mr. Rainey said:

Modification Held Liberal.

"The new regulations are more liberal even than the Connally amendment. Under them no directly service connected veteran will be reduced in his compensation by more than 25 per cent, and the average reduction will be approximately 18 per cent.

"Under the regulations promulgated today the reasons for the Connally amendment, which appealed to those who are supporting it, are largely eliminated, and it is to be hoped that such action can now be taken in conference as will make unnecessary additional large amounts of taxes."

The Speaker said he believed the President would veto the bill if the amendment were kept in it, and he did not believe it could be passed over a veto.

Some Payments Increased.

The cuts in compensation originally proposed under the economy law were expected to save something like $420,000,000 annually. The Connally amendment would reduce the saving by $170,000,000 it was estimated. The modified cuts announced by the President would reduce the saving by from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000, it was estimated.

The new limitation of cuts, the White House statement said, would apply not only to World War veterans with service-connected disabilities but also to Spanish-American War veterans with service disabilities, and to peace-time veterans suffering disabilities incurred with expeditionary forces. These latter groups would, in instances, have their payments increased instead of decreased, and, in some instances World War veterans would have their payments increased from $150 to $175 a month.

The Spanish War veterans are increased from $6 to $15 a month for disabilities and total disability payments would be increased from $20 to $30 a month. Payments would be continued to aged veterans and widows and orphans of veterans until 18 years of age or until they have completed schooling up to 21 years of age.

Keech Again Urges Cab Insurance Law

People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech yesterday reiterated his indorsement of the bill requiring financial responsibility for taxicab operators in a letter addressed to the chairman of the Senate and House District Committees.

"A law of this character will, unquestionably, add to the expense of an operator, but will benefit the public," he wrote. "Furthermore, by affording protection of this type it is very probable that many more persons will make use of these vehicles thus substantially compensating for the additional cost."

Like the Public Utilities Commission, Mr. Keech urged the passage of the pending measure before Congress adjourns as emergency legislation.

11 JURORS CHOSEN IN TRIAL OF CLARK

Total of 107 Talesmen Are Called Before Recess on Second Day.

Another record and possibly two was broken yesterday by the trial of Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County commissioners, in Montgomery County circuit court at Rockville, Md., on charges of embezzlement of county funds.

For the first time in the history of the court, it was recessed for the second day without securing a jury to try a case. It is believed that the number of talesmen called so far also establishes a record in the court. A total of 107 had been called for the trial and an additional 40 are to be summoned when court convenes at 9:30 a. m. today.

Clark established a record with the 97 indictments returned against him by the grand jury and is believed the first defendant for whom the State has asked a change of venue because it was believed impossible to obtain a conviction and is the first to be tried three times on the same offense, according to court attaches.

Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Associate Judge Arthur D. Willard adjourned court yesterday afternoon with eleven tentative jurors in the jury box. A total of 61 had been called through the day by Sheriff Richard H. Lansdale and his deputies, most of whom pleaded that they had formed previous opinions on the case and were excused. The defense has exercised 19 challenges and the State 9, leaving each side with 1 more challenge.

Clark is represented by Attorneys Thomas L. Dawson and F. Barnard Welsh, of Rockville, and E. Barrett Prettyman, of Chevy Chase, Md., while State's Attorney Stedman Prescott is handling the prosecution.

The eleven tentative jurors selected when court recessed for the day were Roger T. Pumphrey, Germantown; Charles Beall, Derwood; Windsor C. Moxley, Damascus; Robert Phillips, Bethesda; Harold Murphy, Bethesda; James O. Williams, Laytonsville; William L. Rabbitt, Capitol View; Leonard Edwards, Colesville; Howard T. Lockhart, Capitol View; William S. Magruder, Laytonsville, and Edmund Cloyd, Gaithersburg.

DR. HENRY COTTRELL ROWLAND.

DR. H. C. ROWLAND, AUTHOR, SUCCUMBS

Was Prominent in Army, Navy nad Scientific Circles Here.

Dr. Henry Cottrell Rowland, 59, famous physician and author, and a prominent figure in Army, Navy, scientific and literary circles in the Capital, died yesterday at Mount Alto Hospital after a long illness.

Following his graduation from Yale with a degree in medicine, he developed a strong affection for the sea and enlisted as a seaman in the Navy at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, serving on the cruiser Yankee.

He was soon drafted for surgical work, however, and following his discharge, became an Army surgeon in the Philippine campaign.

At the outbreak of the World War he volunteered his services to the French government. He served at Vermenton and Accolay, France, 1914-15, and was director of the local military auxiliary hospital at Accolay in 1916.

Accredited Special Agent.

When the United States entered the war he was transferred and assigned to publicity and propaganda work and was accredited special agent of the Navy Intelligence Department. He was also a war correspondent for Collier's magazine in 1917.

At the request of President Theodore Roosevelt he was commissioned by Appleton's Magazine to write the story on the construction of the Panama Canal.

During one of his many adventures he navigated a 45-foot motor launch from London to Le Havre, across Europe through various canals and down the Danube to the Black Sea. The trip was concluded when the boat was shipwrecked in the Black Sea. The story of the trip was told in his book, "Across Europe in a Motorboat."

Dr. Rowland never lost his desire to be on the sea, and in 1924 he built a 41-foot ketch, the Mary, and with his friend, Richard Matthews Hallett, sailed it to Central and South American ports on an itinerary of 5,000 miles. Throughout his wanderings he turned out an endless flow of colorful romances and scientific reports.

His first literary work was published in 1903, "Sea Scamps." During the next two decades he wrote a long list of books, including "To Windward," "The Wanderers," "The Closing Net," "Pearl Island," "The Mountain of Fears," "Mile High," "The Peddler" and "The Return of Frank Clamart."

"Many Mansions," a novel published only last year, aroused keen interest here and abroad, and is now being dramatized for the stage and screen.

Funeral Services Tomorrow.

Dr. Rowland was born in New York City, the son of George and Maria Townsend Durfee Rowland. In addition to his school work at Yale he spent one year at Williams College. He prepared at private schools.

He was married at London, England, June 22, 1910, to Mary Fulton Parkinson. Besides his wife, he is survived by two children, Henry C., jr., and Diane Rowland, all living at the home, 2332 Massachusetts avenue northwest; and two sisters, Mrs. Frederick Ewing and Mrs. George Lauder, and one brother, John Rowland, all of Greenwich, Conn.

AUTO CRASH FATAL TO FEDERAL EDITOR

Mrs. S. H. Walker Injured While Motoring With Kensington Rector.

Mrs. Susan Hunter Walker, for twelve years editor of the Daily Digest, a Department of Agriculture publication, died yesterday at Emergency Hospital as the result of injuries suffered Memorial Day while motoring with the Rev. Thomas D. Windiate, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Kensington, Md., and a party of friends.

Dr. Windiate failed to report the accident to police, according to Montgomery County authorities, whose first intimation of the accident was a telephone call from Washington police that Mrs. Walker had died as the result of an accident.

County police got in touch with Dr. Windiate and have forwarded his statement and a report on the accident to the commissioner of motor vehicles at Baltimore. Maryland law requires a report in writing to the commissioner within 24 hours after an accident in which a person has been injured.

The minister told county police that he had driven a party of friends which included Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Bessie Towles, 3358 Eighteenth street northwest, Miss Sophia Ellison, of Kensington, and Miss Louise Morrison, of the Stratford Hotel, through the country on Memorial Day and that while returning to Kensington, his car skidded on the steep Garrett Park hill.

Struck Telephone Pole.

To avoid striking approaching cars, he turned to the side and struck a a telephone pole, Dr. Windiate said. Mrs. Walker was treated by Dr. Henry S. Brown, of Kensington, and went to the rectory where she was visiting. Monday her condition became such that she was removed to Emergency Hospital, where she died yesterday. County police plan no action in the case since failure to report the accident is subject to action by the commissioner of motor vehicles.

Mrs. Walker, who lived at 900 Nineteenth street northwest, was a charter member of the Women's National Press Club. She was 59 years old.

A native of Banff, Scotland, Mrs. Walker's father operated a school in Scotland which Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, attended as a boy. She came to this country with her family as a girl. While a resident of New Jersey, her father became a close friend of Walt Whitman, the poet, and the friendship extended to Mrs. Walker.

Moved to Fairfax County.

The family moved to Fairfax County, Va., later and it was there that she was married to the Rev. Albert Rhett Walker, who died several years ago.

Before entering the Department of Agriculture she was editor of a publication of the Council of National Defense during the World War. She also served some time with the committee on public information during the war.

She was a member of the Arts Club of Washington and during the recent visit of Mr. MacDonald and his daughter, Miss Ishbel MacDonald, she was the latter's hostess at a luncheon.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 4 p. m. at Holy Comforter Church, Vienna, Va., followed by interment in Lewinsville, Va.

INFLUENCE ON KITS IS DENIED BY HOWE

to 85 cents. The Be Vier Company quoted a price of $1.40.

Richard B. Be Vier, president of the company, also was recalled to appear today for questioning about his firm's profits and stockholders.

Howe, before the committee for the second time and under oath, gave a summary of "the very small part I took in the whole matter."

"I never directly nor indirectly attempted to influence any decision in this matter," he said, referring to the ordering of the kits by Robert Fechner, Conservation Corps director.

The order was given a few hours after Richard B. Be Vier, president of the company, called at Howe's office with a letter from Basil O'Connor, a former law partner of President Roosevelt.

Howe said that when he appeared last week and told the committee he did not know who sent Be Vier to him, he did not know that the salesman had presented the letter from O'Connor, to his secretary, adding that she had standing orders to automatically give persons with letters the first convenient appointment.

His secretary, he went on, did not "bother me with information that Mr. Be Vier had a letter of introduction from anybody" and he added that the first he knew of the O'Connor letter was when he read in the newspapers that Be Vier had such a letter.

The O'Connor letter, signed "Doc," which Be Vier and Howe said was O'Connor's nickname, bore a longhand postscript that "he (Be Vier) tells me he can save the Government from $100,000 to $150,000" by supplying kits and attested to Be Vier's character and that of his firm.

Buying Unit Urged.

Committee members indicated in their questioning of Howe that they might propose a bill to designate an agency to buy supplies for the Conservation corps, or suggest to President Roosevelt that he do so by executive order.

Howe reiterated before the committee that he thought F. W. Lowery, assistant to Budget Director Douglas, had investigated Be Vier's claims he could supply a better kit for a lower price than the Army.

He explained that a letter signed by him to Fechner, giving Fechner specific authority to order the kits, was prepared by Lowery at Howe's suggestion, after Fechner had doubted that he had the authority to buy them.

Howe said he did not see how Lowery "or anyone else" could have sent him this letter, which said the attention of the sender had been called to "the inferior" articles issued by the Army and the more desirable Be Vier kits, without investigating the claims.

Quality in Dispute.

"This letter to Mr. Fechner," observed Senator Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, "could scarcely be construed otherwise than a letter of instruction from you to purchase, not through the War Department, but directly."

"I certainly didn't so construe it, sir," replied Howe. "I construed it as giving Mr. Fechner authority to buy these articles, the reason being because the articles were better quality."

Articles shown him by Be Vier as those issued by the Army, Howe said, "were a sheer waste of money" because of their inferior quality, but he said, "I have no knowledge that they were" the Army's issue.

Asked by Carey what articles he referred to, Howe said one thing was a shaving brush. Carey replied these were supplied from war stores, without cost.

"Then there wasn't any waste of them," Howe said smiling.

REPEAL IS ATTACKED AT POTOMAC SYNOD

Reformed Church Convention Speaker Also Urges Sweatshop Abolition.

Frederick, Md., June 6.—War, sweatshops and dry repeal were attacked at the opening of the sixty-first annual convention of the Potomac Synod of the Reformed Church, embracing Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and southern Pennsylvania, at Hood College today. It was voted that the general synod of the United States should establish the status of a member of the Reformed Church who has conscientious objections against war to be the same as that of a member of the Society of Friends.

Attacking the principle of war and voicing efforts in behalf of world peace, the Rev. Charles D. Rockel, Altoona, Pa., said the world today seems to have learned nothing from the tragedy of the World War. In its stupidity and folly it still seems bent upon plunging over the abyss into another world war, and that will mean the annihilation of civilization, he said. The Rev. Mr. Rockel called upon every church and every educational institution to favor retention of prohibition. He made an urgent appeal against sweatshops and minimum wage laws and favored old-age pensions and unemployment insurance.

Officers elected were: President, the Rev. Dr. Stephen L. Flickinger, Winchester, Va.; vice president, A. R. Brodbeck, Hanover, Pa.; reading clerk, the Rev. Earl Gardner, of near Altoona, and secretary, the Rev. Harvey A. Festerman, Hagerstown.

Speakers tonight were the Rev. Dr. Charles D. Schaeffer, Philadelphia, secretary of the board of home missions, and the Rev. Arthur V. Castleman, Philadelphia, associate secretary of the board of foreign missions.

About 150 delegates representing 21 churches, 302 congregations and 75,000 church members are attending the sessions.

CAPITAL FUNDS BILL FATE WITH SENATORS

throw over at least two of the school construction units authorized in the Senate bill.

"It means another row," was the way one influential member of the Senate District Appropriations subcommittee expressed it last night.

Chairman Thomas, on the other hand, will make no prophesies. He is anxious that the District be given a "fair" deal and will do all he can to work out an amicable agreement, he said.

The Senate District appropriation bill provides for a Federal "lump sum" contribution of $6,250,000, the lowest proportionate allotment in the history of the Federal city. Yet the House has insisted that it be further scaled down to $5,700,000. And unless the Senate conferees, meeting this afternoon, hold a stiff upper lip, they may completely win their point.

The $5,700,000 figure compares with $7,775,000 appropriated last year, when members of both Houses were prompt to point out that the sum was only an "emergency" proposition, and in no sense represented a permanent curtailment.

OF THE 86,802 Government employes in Washington, 4,144 will be eligible for retirement under the 30-year provision as of June 30, now before Congress, according to figures compiled by the Civil Service Commission.

On a percentage basis the White House would lose the greatest number of employes, while a number of independent offices would lose none of its personnel under the 30-year retirement plan.

By bureaus in Commerce, for instance, here is how the 30-year provision would work:

Census, 147 eligible for retirement, or 20.6 per cent; Patent Office, 119 of 1,400, or 8.5 per cent; Coast and Geodetic Survey, 21 of 246, or 12.6 per cent; Mines, 21 of 246, or 7.4 per cent; Standards, 15 of 895, or 1.7 per cent; Foreign and Domestic Commerce, 12 of 865, or 1.4 per cent; Fisheries, 12 of 76, or 15.8 per cent; Secretary's Office, 10 of 160, or 6.25 per cent; Navigation and Steamboat Inspection, 6 of 87, or 10.3 per cent, and Lighthouses, 3 of 80, or 3.75 per cent. Total, 376.

In Agriculture the approximate number in Washington would work out like this:

Weather Bureau, 28 of 238; Animal Industry, 28 of 360; Plant Industry, 59 of 658; Forest Service, 27 of 223; Chemistry and Soils, 24 of 477; Entomology, 13 of 163; Biological Survey, 9 of 110; Library, 4 of 29; Public Roads, 5 of 326; Food and Drug Administration, 14 of 194; Home Economics, none of 85; Dairy Industry, 3 of 117; Agricultural Engineering, none of 49; Agricultural Economics, 20 of 1,089; Plant Quarantine, 3 of 96; Extension Service, 6 of 178; Experiment Stations, 9 of 51; Office of Information, 18 of 174; Secretary's Office, 37 of 604; Grain Futures Administration, none of 11. Total, 307.

In Engraving and Printing 466 of 4,244 would be eligible to retirement, including 13 foremen.

THE list for Washington as provided by Secretary Babcock, C. S. C., follows:

IN addition to the above, the following would be eligible to the 30-year retirement

Soldiers' Home, 13; D. C. government, 220; recorder of deeds, 10; register of wills, 3; Architect of the Capitol, 23; Botanic Gardens, 3, and Library of Congress, 53.

Discussing retirement yesterday, Chairman Buchanan, House Appropriations Committee, said he opposed optional retirement. The Senate bill provides for "voluntary or involuntary," while the House bill calls only for "involuntary."

Mr. Buchanan said he opposes optional retirement because it would "take the most efficient employes out of the service," and that "those most capable would go into private business," &c. He intends to stand by the House provision and will oppose the optional feature when the bill goes to conference. He will be chairman of the House conferees.

Two points involving Federal employes are at issue, retirement and the quota provision. The House provides for dismissal according to State apportionment. The Senate bill provides for "efficiency and apportionment." Buchanan says the Senate provision is contradictory and will not work. He favors setting up efficiency as the only standard, but thinks the House will not accept this.

He further favors use of furloughs to create trained reserves of Federal employes, who could be called on as needed. He thinks the Postoffice Department has set a good example by announcing furloughs in lieu of dismissal policy. He says if furloughs are not used, he has been told, 50,000 employes would have to be dismissed.

FRIENDS and associates tendered a surprise party Sunday to Fred G. Robinette, U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, on his return from Chicago where he assisted in installation of the Survey's exhibit at the exposition.

Returning home in Lanham, Md., from church, he was met at the entrance to his grounds by a noisy "band" of friends, fortified with cornets, drums and noisemakers of every description, which paraded him around grounds to tables placed on the lawn which were weighted down with fried chicken and the other good things which make up for the right sort of a meal. Joseph G. Deckelman, leader of the "band," also was toastmaster.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Robinette (*), Fred G. Robinette, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Stromme, Charles H. Dieck, Joseph G. Deckelman, Henry P. Clark, Donald Kidwell, Arthur G. Mann, E. C. Chewning, Ralph C. Alsip, Walter W. Herfurth, John C. Schwigert, Thomas H. Deckelman and C. C. Weidemann.

Dallas S. Burch, Agriculture, will preside tonight when the Federal Chess Club convenes at the Federal Clubhouse, 1515 Sixteenth street northwest, to adopt by-laws.

All Government workers desiring to join the club are asked to attend or mail applications to Mr. Burch at the clubhouse. James Byler, Federal champion, will conduct a class for beginners.

Pass the Laurel

IF there were a Pulitzer prize, a wreath of laurel or some other mark of equal distinction within our power to confer, we would unhesitatingly award it to such men as Postmaster General Farley and President Harry B. Mitchell, Civil Service Commission, both of whom have assumed leadership in the interest of the Federal employe by adopting the furlough plan as a substitute for dismissals.

What the Federal service needs is "just a few" more men of their caliber, who, mindful of human rights and domestic affairs, can take the field manfully and courageously, without waiting for others, to champion the cause of Uncle Sam's faithful legions.

The Finest Fleet of Trains in the World

every thru train genuinely air-conditioned

Every Chesapeake and Ohio thru train is now on a par with The George Washington, with genuine air-conditioning—all the time, all the way—complete freedom from dirt, grime and cinders—minimum of noise—and constantly changing, fresh, cool, conditioned air no matter what the weather outside.

Every schedule is faster—either leaving later or arriving earlier—and better timed so that in most instances you may reach the objective of your journey in an overnight sleep—and detrain clean, refreshed and rested, and ready for the rigors of the new day. No longer need you dread the night on a sleeping car.

New and better connections have been established with the most desirable trains of connecting lines, and the thru air-conditioned sleepers will take you over a wide territory between the Mississippi Valley and the Atlantic Seaboard.

Additional air-conditioned sleeping cars have been provided between various principal points so there will be no more crowding for those who, having learned what air-conditioned comfort really means, have been insisting on going Chesapeake and Ohio even when they had to take uppers.

Every train has plenty of rooms as well as standard sections and berths; every train has luxurious lounges and radio entertainment; every train serves the best meals you ever tasted, at prices down where you have always felt they should be.

An entirely new conception of railroad travel is waiting for you if you haven't been on Chesapeake and Ohio. The public has been asking, . . . "Why don't the railroads do something?" . . . . . Chesapeake and Ohio has answered this question . . . by doing it! Test the answer for yourself.

FUTILE TARIFF BARGAINING.

A large volume of tariff information which has a direct bearing upon the negotiations in London and upon the tariff measure which President Roosevelt is about to submit to Congress was gathered by the Tariff Commission several months ago, but is still kept secret from the public. The commission was instructed to have the information available to the Senate finance committee not later than March 1. Its last report is dated March 29. For more than two months the committee has kept this information hidden from the public gaze for reasons that are unexplained. Some members of the committee have been supplied with copies of the data, but the public is not yet so favored.

Without doing any more than answering the questions of Senator Costigan, the commission shows the utter futility of tariff bargaining as a means of promoting foreign trade. Its report says:

> The reciprocity treaties which were actually completed by the United States have been only three in number, in spite of the fact that throughout the whole period prior to 1922 the United States was making only conditional most-favored-nation treaties of which the logical concomitant is an active policy of tariff bargaining.

Those three reciprocal treaties actually completed were with Canada, Hawaii and Cuba. The Hawaiian and Cuban treaties were largely political arrangements. Only the Cuban treaty now remains in effect. The treaty with Canada, negotiated in 1854, is the only reciprocal treaty ever completed by this Government on a purely economic basis. During its negotiation and at the time of its repudiation the antagonism which it aroused brought the United States and Canada close to war.

"The fruitless attempts at reciprocity treaties," says the report, "have been much more numerous. * * * It appears therefore that in a period of some 60 years, ten reciprocity treaties were negotiated under the general treaty powers which did not become effective. Out of the ten, two were rejected by the foreign countries, two were negotiated by one President but not accepted by his successor, and the other six were suppressed by congressional action or inaction—four were rejected by the Senate, one failed for lack of the necessary legislation, and one because amendment by the Senate had made it unacceptable to the other country."

In the face of this record of futile tariff bargaining over a period of 60 years Secretary Hull has gone to London with a determination to revive that policy, and President Roosevelt has announced that he will seek legislation to make further bargaining attempts possible. It is of the utmost importance that the findings of this body of experts, representing both parties, should be made available to the public and to every member of Congress in order that there may be intelligent action on this vital issue.

The recommendations of the commission are not more favorable to Secretary Hull's policy than are its findings of fact. If the United States should again venture into commercial bargaining, the commission suggests it should hold to the unconditional most-favored-nation treaties. Such agreements are in effect with 29 countries. They bind this Government to extend to all of these 29 countries any concessions that are granted to any other country. Special favors are not worth much when they extend to 30 countries at the same time, unless they happen to be centered upon a specialty of one or more of those countries.

The Tariff Commission has unanimously thrown cold water on the tariff-bargaining policy. Members of Congress who have been skeptical of the reciprocal trade plan from the start will doubtless demand full publicity for the commission's report, so that public reaction may be registered before the proposed tariff bill comes to a vote.

BANK REFORM DELAYED.

The banking reform measure has run into serious difficulties in conference. Representatives of the Senate and House are divided over the merits of the guaranty plan, especially the Vandenberg amendment which would set up temporary insurance against the loss of deposits. President Roosevelt is known to be vigorously opposed to this feature of the bill. He might even use his veto powers if the measure should be sent to the White House with this provision included.

As a result of this deadlock over its insurance or guaranty features, the entire bank reform movement may fail at this session of Congress. The real issue—which is sound banking versus bucket shops—has been obscured by the attempt to distribute the losses of bad banking among all sound banks. Rather than subject the country to another experiment of this kind, it may be well to let the banking measure die, so that the next Congress may begin reconsideration of the issue without having to clear away any debris.

By all means Congress should have perfected a banking reform measure at this session. It is strange that Senator Glass allowed his mind to run toward the insurance scheme just when his battle against banking nostrums was almost won. But Congress has not been in a mood to deliberate upon the question. It has insisted upon treating a permanent defect in the banking structure as if it were an emergency matter. In view of this situation suitable permanent legislation probably could not be expected.

Apparently the whole task of revising the general banking system must be done over again. Stripped of its insurance features the Glass bill provides a good foundation upon which changes may be based. Congress may be sufficiently calm next year to reconsider this measure without its dangerous frills. But this does not mitigate the disappointment which is now felt because Congress has proved itself unequal at present to the task of sound banking reform.

WHAT ABOUT DEBTS?

The United States became a creditor nation of record size with unprecedented dispatch. As a collector of outstanding obligations Uncle Sam has not been a shining success. In eight days the June interest and installments on the European war debts will be due. There appears to be every prospect that all the fifteen nations will default. Rumors are rife in several continental capitals that, prior to June 15, in order to avoid this contingency, President Roosevelt will declare a moratorium. In Washington it is felt that one of the reasons why the administration would particularly like to have Congress adjourn this week is to permit freer executive action in this controversial matter.

The peremptory refusal of the last Congress to consider a reduction of the debts or further postponement of payments, has not been altered during the present session, and there are indications that the new members do not differ from their predecessors. A bitter contest is being waged in London over the question as to whether the June payment shall be made. The former chancellor of the exchequer, Viscount Snowden, is leading the advocates of payment, at least in silver, on the broad ground of maintaining the national credit and setting a good example to Great Britain's many debtors.

Opposing British payment are various members of Parliament and a number of the more influential newspapers. They claim that they fail to perceive wherein England's position today is any better than that of France, which did not pay last December, although the installment sent from London was about five times as great as that withheld by Paris. If another and general default takes place this month the fiction that it is merely a postponement of payment can not longer be maintained, and certainly every default makes it more difficult to reinstate payments on the old basis. It has become constantly clearer during recent months that the debtor nations are working in real or tacit concert to force drastic revision of the debts. Led by French sentiment there will be determined opposition to any concessions short of virtual cancellation. A grudging 10 per cent is the amount now frequently heard as the most that Europe expects to pay, while recurrent demands are being voiced for wiping out the debts entirely.

The United States has consistently maintained the position that adjustment of the debts was a matter for individual negotiation with each nation separately, just as the loans were previously made, reduced and readjusted. The debtor nations have been asked to present their several cases in Washington. They have not done so. The administration holds that when the June installments are due it expects them to be paid. As the date approaches, and it becomes increasingly evident that payments will not be remitted, the Government faces the alternative of defaults, or declaring a moratorium in the belief that it would better serve to keep the indebtedness alive.

THE FORGOTTEN WOMAN.

A new source of injustice arising under the economy act has been brought to the attention of Congress. In its haste to slash a few hundred millions from the budget Congress repealed the law granting pensions to the widows of officers and enlisted men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. These pensions were thrown into the general classification of veterans' allowances and many of them underwent a 50 per cent cut in the President's executive order which becomes effective on July 1.

Officers and enlisted men who devote their lives to the defense of their country can not reasonably be classed with the veterans who enlist for temporary service. Men in the regular establishments enter upon military careers with the understanding that, if they lose their lives while still in the service, their widows and families will be cared for, at least in a meager way. The family security thus offered has for many years been one of the inducements to young men to cast their lots with the Army or Navy.

The agreement of the Government to aid widows of such officers and men is virtually a contract. It is entirely different from an act of Congress extending benefits to veterans who served for a few months in war time without injury. In the first case the Government's liability is permanent, and in the second case it ends with the termination of the veteran's military service in good health. There is no reason why pensions to the widows of regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps men should be confused with veterans' benefits.

Yet such has been the case. Many of these widows now aged and dependent have been reduced from $30 to $15 per month, in spite of the Government's unquestioned obligation to them. On the other hand, an elaborate network of new pensions has been built up for the benefit of widows of the men employed temporarily in reforestation work. If a man holding a job in the woods should be killed in the line of duty his widow would receive $45 per month. Even though the forester might have served only a week that pension to his widow would continue until her death or remarriage. This is three times the sum that is allowed to many widows of men who devote their entire lives to defense of their country.

It is not surprising that these widows and their friends are conducting a vigorous campaign against this act of injustice. There are only 5,736 widows thus being mistreated, and the total saving made by clipping their pensions is insignificant. Congress ought to take immediate steps to divorce the question of handouts to veterans from that of pensions to widows of men in the regular service. It is such blunders as these which tend to undermine the whole economy program.

GOVERNMENT BORROWING.

Announcement of the June financing plans of the Treasury is expected to be made at once, now that the joint resolution eliminating the gold clause from all obligations has been signed by the President. Securities to the extent of $900,000,000 will probably be marketed on June 15 to take up maturing Treasury certificates and provide in about equal amount for the preliminary necessities of the emergency relief plans. It is anticipated that this issue will take the form of five-year bonds with an interest rate at a fraction below 3 per cent.

While this will be the first bond of the Government to be offered without the clause calling for payment in gold, financial circles in New York do not anticipate that the omission will materially affect the flotation, since going off the gold standard in April was taken as equivalent to the recent more formal action of Congress in so far as Federal issues were concerned. The novel features of the joint resolution were inclusion in the order of private contracts as well, and making the nullification retroactive.

A congressional resolution was not necessary to bring to the attention of the administration the fact that some $8,000,000,000 of Liberty bonds become callable this year and that, if conditions are considered propitious for refunding them at lower rates of interest, large savings could be effected. The Fourth Liberty Loan 4¼ per cent bonds cannot now be called for October conversion, since six months' notice is required. They amount to $6,269,000,000, and can be called for next April. In addition there are available for refunding nearly $2,000,000,000 of the First Liberty Loan at 3½ per cent.

Additional financing to be considered this year concerns the conversion of the short-term indebtedness and the advisability of putting it into long-term bonds to avoid the necessity of constantly recurring quarterly renewals, which are more or less disturbing to financial markets. These Treasury notes and certificates total about $6,000,000,000, at least half of which are obligations running for less than one year. The total of this refunding during this and next year would amount to $14,000,000,000, and it is naturally expected that a patriotic appeal would result in the new issues at lower rates than the Liberty bonds being absorbed in a very general exchange by the present holders.

In addition to the conversion issues, Government plans contemplate extensive original flotations for the public works program, mortgage refinancing and the various projects fathered by the R. F. C., to a total readily exceeding $8,000,000,000, so that altogether the refunding issues possible within the next twelve months, plus the necessary bond issues required for the projects in sight, climb to the magnificent total of more than $22,000,000,000.

Maybe Congress couldn't adjourn if it tried, and maybe it prefers to stick around until it sees what the war debtors propose.

The ability to forget seems to be a necessary ingredient of great financial minds.

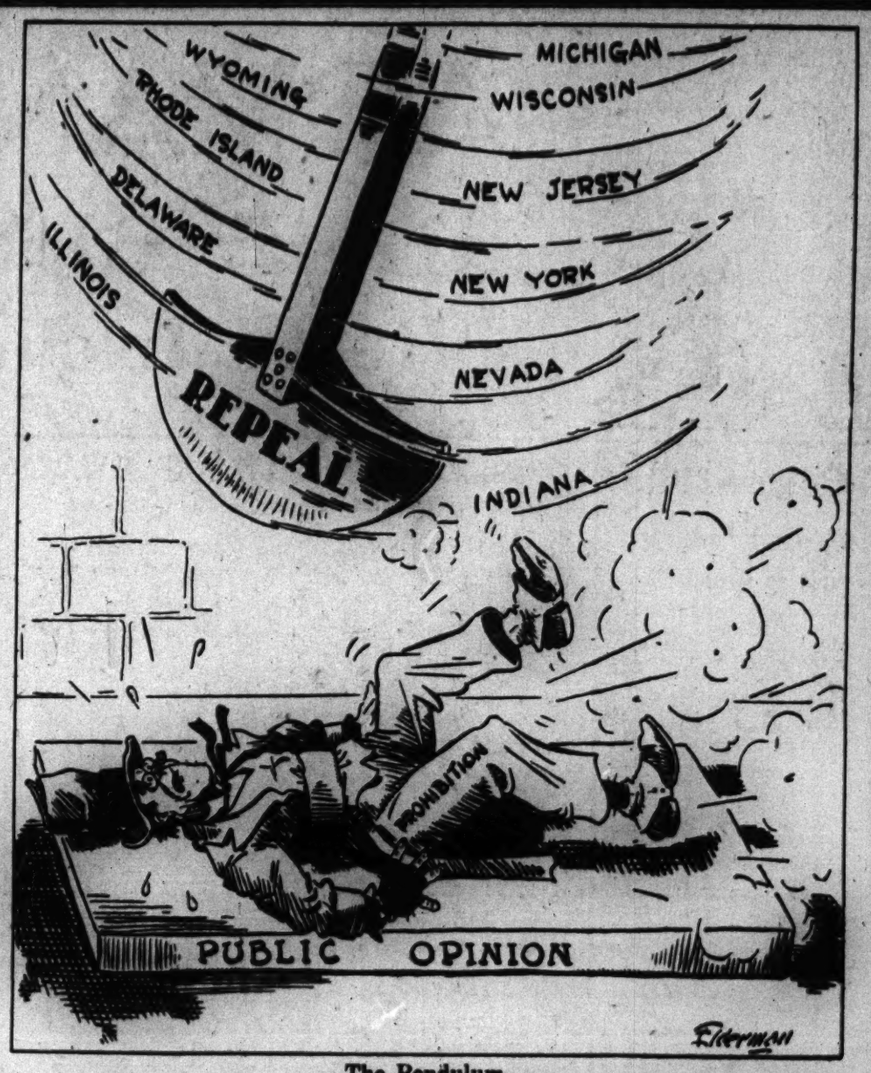
RECKONING IS COMING

From the Portland Oregonian.

Japan proudly confronts the League of Nations and the United States with accomplished facts—accomplished by fighting while they have talked and written. Her causes for invasion of China have become so tenuous that she would better cease to explain.

Because two lengths of rail near Mukden were dynamited and the next train was delayed ten minutes until they were replaced, Japan took Manchuria. Because Jehol is north of the Great Wall it is naturally a part of Manchuria, so Japan took that province. Control of the passes through the Great Wall is necessary to defense of Jehol, so she took them. Chinese armies south of the wall threatened the passes, so she drove back the Chinese all along the front until she may take the ancient capital any day. By the same line of reasoning Japan might say that possession of the great plateau of Tibet was necessary to her national safety.

Japan has presumed on the preoccupation of the Western nations with disarmament and the economic crisis. She is likely to discover that she has presumed overmuch. The Western nations are grappling with their problems in such a spirit that there is prospect that they will find solutions. Then they may turn their undivided attention to Japan. The military rulers of that empire may say that what they have they hold, but there is a precedent to the contrary. Japan seized Shantung during the war and was awarded it by the Versailles Treaty, but pressure at the Washington conference of 1921-22 caused her to surrender it. When the Western powers are ready to act they may warn Japan to withdraw from all Chinese territory and they may confront her with an alternative which would cause the people to drive their military rulers from office and would place the civil power in control. It has been possible to negotiate with Japanese statesmen, but not with militarists, who scorn treaties and know no law but force.



The Pendulum.

POST HASTE.

Only one thing more is needed to make the verdict conclusive—for Congress to think it could win in a contest with the President.

If Mr. Roosevelt takes the air the present temper of the people will bury Capitol Hill under an avalanche of messages saying: "Support the President!"

Secretary Hull has long thought that lower tariffs would spur trade, but there is no doubt about the soundness of his latest contention that other nations will buy more if we lend them the money.

But Russia simply can't understand us; the Soviet is ready to buy ten times as much as China on credit.

If the bankers weren't so buffaloed at present they might say something to the senators about reviving their preferred list of veterans.

We trust our delegates will not be embarrassed in London by rude employment by foreigners of Uncle Sam's phrase: "Ability to pay," in connection with gold clauses, or anything.

If mere males were as brave as the female of the species they would declare for pajamas—that's all—from now until October 1.

The expensive detours that Congress makes to avoid the sales tax are hard on tires and nerves and waste a lot of gas.

The most painful expression over ditching the gold clause was exhibited by Senator Borah when he faced the effort to condone repudiation.

Handing the President authority to revise tariffs would come easier if he were not going to export it for Secretary Hull to handle.

The Secretary of State will propose a flat 10 per cent cut in the tariffs of all nations. While prices were falling more than one-third world trade was more than cut in half, so what will 10 per cent do?

Nobody thinks there was anything crooked in Col. Howe's conduct of the kit contract, but it offers strong argument for handling such matters by experienced men in the routine manner.

Calling our gold clause action repudiation, European nations prepare a mid-June renege, but this time without blushing.

No one can say that Norman Indefatigable Davis isn't giving a demonstration of what can be done in the way of fighting the world without even side arms.

Two golden rules no longer apply to the payment of United States bonds. PAUL HUDSON.

THE LITTLE HOME.

The little house is not too small
To shelter friends who come to call,
Though low the roof and small is space
It holds the Lord's abounding grace,
And every simple room may be
Endowed with happy memory.

The little house, severely plain,
A wealth of beauty may contain.
Within it those who dwell may find
High faith which makes for peace of mind,
And that sweet understanding which
Can make the poorest cottage rich.

The little house can hold all things
From which the soul's contentment springs
'Tis not too small for love to grow,
For all the joys that mortals know,
For mirth and song that delight
Which makes the humblest dwelling bright.

Every Hero's Death Is Necessary If He Can Save Others Only by Dying.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS is written for humble Christian people whose faith is sometimes shaken by their inability to accept the doctrine of the Atonement. Others will not appreciate it, but no matter; it is not intended for them.

When the same thought was presented in the form of a fable some weeks ago, the response was immediate and grateful.

A university professor who is much in demand as a speaker and is recognized as an authority on theology, said in a letter of thanks: "The thing is so clear to me that I feel like shouting. I am full of gratitude to you for clearing up a thing which has distressed me unspeakably for 50 years."

If you have been troubled as he was, the idea may be of service to you. It is not offered as a dogmatic statement of fact, but only as a suggestion.

You have been told that God required a sacrifice to atone for the sins of men; that Jesus came to earth and was crucified and thus saved men from God's wrath by suffering in their place; that the shedding of His blood was necessary to "fulfill the law."

You felt it your duty to believe, but the idea offended your intelligence. You could not believe that a just and merciful Father, the very embodiment of love, would demand a blood sacrifice to appease His wrath. It seemed incredible that God would forgive guilty men only on condition that some innocent one suffer in their place.

Unable to believe that, you pretended to believe. And so you were unable to understand or defend your religion, and you found peace of mind only by refusing to think about it.

Then why persist in making a simple matter difficult?

If a man should appear today, declaring himself the Son of God and preaching a new religion that threatened every established creed and faith, would he not be lynched?

Christ knew He would be killed. God knew it. The crucifixion was inevitable.

But there was no other way to deliver the message that would save the world. When a hero sacrifices his life to save others his death is necessary to accomplish his noble purpose. Thus and thus only was Christ's sacrifice necessary. His teachings alone would save the world; to teach as He did was to invite certain death.

He gave himself as a ransom for many; He died that others might live; His blood was shed to save the world. But He wasn't sacrificed to appease the wrath of God; He was killed by men who couldn't understand what He was doing for them.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Which Way, Please?

Baltimore Sun.

For a Democratic member of the Senate Finance Committee the embargo proposal presented a difficult puzzle. It is an extension of the national industrial control scheme, but it is an extension which is far more logical than the sponsors of this scheme have been willing to admit. And yet it cuts straight across plans for international economic rehabilitation through sensible tariff adjustments, which are ostensibly a major part of the administration's objective. Does the administration's espousal of the industrial control plan reverse its position on the tariff, as its recent enactments in the monetary field have reversed its campaign position on the gold standard, "sound money," and related matters? Most of the Democrats thought it did not, but how they knew certainly is anything but clear.

Revolt in the Senate.

New York Herald Tribune.

The revolt in the Senate against the veteran economy act, barely checked by Vice President Garner's casting vote after the administration had already sacrificed an estimated $170,000,000 of its economies in order to propitiate the rebels, is something which demands the immediate and emphatic attention of every taxpayer. The fact that the Senate, at this moment of financial stringency, will toss away $170,000,000 of the taxpayers' money—half as much as the total appropriation for either the Army or the Navy—with 42 senators opposing the gift as too small, is staggering enough in itself. Even more important than the immediate money involved, however, is the yawning hole which this measure, if finally enacted, would drive through the whole structure of veterans' law revision, for which the public had to put up so desperate a fight.

Cousens in Foreign Affairs.

Detroit News.

Back when the Hoover moratorium was being anathematized in the Senate, these columns facetiously suggested that Hoover nominate the chief anathematizers, such as Borah, La Follette and Hiram Johnson, to go to Europe and prove their powers as foreign negotiators and foreign debt collectors. In changed circumstances and having a method of enacting the test at hand, President Roosevelt apparently found force in the idea. At any rate, the President did firmly urge Johnson and then La Follette to serve as a United States delegate at the London economic conference.

These senators, when thus invited to perform or shut up, refused to perform. They declined. The President also turned to Senator Cousens, who accepts. Though well proven as a critic, Mr. Cousens has not directed his criticism especially to foreign affairs and he also has his record as a man of action. Senator Cousens has practical qualities and courage.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE 1933 BACCALAUREATE.

"Gentlemen of the Graduating Class!

"I greet you with something akin to optimism and hope. After four long years we are today graduating a class under conditions which promise a fair chance some of its members will find work in the United States. Some of you, the signs now indicate, may actually get onto a pay roll. It is a reasonable assumption that not every member of the class will have to go home and live on the folks.

* * * *

"It is my great privilege to say to you gentlemen of the class of 1933 that the era when the best a man with a new sheepskin could hope for was a job in the city parks seems over. We are now facing, unless signs deceive us, a restoration of the days when four years in college will mean something to a young man, even if he never made the football team or attracted the attention of the Yankee pitching scouts.

* * * *

"Gentlemen, you have been fortunate in having your college life fall in a period of American history when a college was the only institution in American life doing business as usual. You have had the privilege of four years of decent housing, regular meals and many comforts when the rest of your countrymen were scratching for grub, dodging sheriffs and patching their pants.

* * * *

"You have been lucky enough to live in an atmosphere of touchdowns, boat races, glee clubs and Harkness quadrangles when millions of American young men were living in the atmosphere of the flophouse, the breadline, the park bench, the eviction courts and the municipal relief funds. You have spent from 1929 to 1933 shouting 'Rah! Rah! Rah!' when the rest of the world was crying 'Where am I?' You have had four years of 'Block that kick' and 'Touchdown! Touchdown!' when almost everybody else in the land was crying 'Brother, can you spare a dime?' and 'Throw out the lifeline.'

* * * *

"Business turns the corner while you shave for the graduation exercises! Commodities rise while you put on your caps and gowns! Production gets up to 40 per cent while you march for your diplomas! Roosevelt shuffles for the new deal as you take your seats for the baccalaureate!

* * * *

"Gentlemen, you are indeed a pack of lucky stiffs! For the first time in four years a class will leave college with a reasonable certainty that it will see a 'Help Wanted—Male' sign on the way out. I felicitate you."

Gen. Charles H. Sherrill of the Olympics committee says that unless Germany gives equality to Jewish athletes, the Olympic games scheduled for Berlin in 1936 will not be held there. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Motorist Who Urges Destruction of Circles and Parks Hears a Thing or Two.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Endeavoring to answer "Motorist" in the only language which apparently he is capable of understanding, may I remind him that more than 300,000 visitors come to Washington annually and spend their money here, attracted by our parks, trees, grass and flowers.

Has he ever heard that trees have a commercial value, that property owners will pay thousands of dollars more for lots with fine old trees, that all property values are higher in the vicinity of parks and circles on account of the grass and trees? Does he know that even the general public values coolness and shade more than gasoline fumes?

Why does he think that all of the civilized charm and value of Washington should be destroyed to allow a few more thousand unnecessary flivvers to bandorlog furiously about in their own headlong way and save a few split seconds in their drivers' unimportant careers?

Question of Quitting Effort to Get Foreign Trade Put Up to Director Douglas.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If Budget Director Douglas is looking for ways to save the public funds, why not give some attention to that useless monstrosity, the Department of Commerce? Why spend $58,000,000 annually in trying to extend our export trade, while our manufacturers are loudly declaring that they can not produce as cheaply as their foreign competitors, and clamoring for still higher protective tariffs? If we can not meet the competition of other nations in our domestic markets, how can we expect to outsell them in the far corners of the earth?

DR. FENWICK SPEAKS AT TRINITY COLLEGE

Commencement Speech Is Review of Measures to Preserve Peace.

World peace and justice are largely dependent upon practical measures of cooperation and organization, declared Dr. Charles G. Fenwick, of Bryn Mawr College, yesterday in delivering the commencement address to the graduating class at Trinity College.

Citing the Kellogg-Briand pact and the covenant of the League of Nations as instruments of the present for peace, Dr. Fenwick declared that "no system of cooperative defense and no international court can suffice to build up permanent peace unless some provision be made for righting the wrongs which certain states believe to have been committed against them.

"If individual violence is to be avoided," he continued, "there must be a collective responsibility assumed by all the nations to see that no one of their number is permanently stifled in its political life or burdened more heavily in its economic development than is endurable."

Archbishop Curley Presides.

The commencement exercises were presided over by the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, who delivered a short inspiratory talk to the graduates. The general report of the college was given by the Rev. William J. Kerby, Ph. D.

DIVIDEND DECLARED BY BUILDING GROUP

Interstate Association Votes 6 Per Cent; Credit Certificates Issued.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

At a directors' meeting of the Interstate Building Association, held yesterday, a 6 per cent dividend was declared to all charter members, of record June 10, to be payable July 1. The officers of the association are John L. Weaver, president; Clarence Dodge, vice president; Earl M. Mackintosh, vice president; Martin R. West, treasurer, and Edward K. Jones, secretary.

The Interstate Building Association was organized by Weaver Bros., Inc., in 1932, to give a greater service to its clientele and to meet the constantly increasing demand upon its organization for building association loans and the handling of clients' funds. Weaver Bros., Inc., is loan correspondent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and has loaned several millions in first mortgage loans on homes in and around Washington.

It was further disclosed by Edward K. Jones, secretary, that the association has gained rapidly since the banking holiday in March, with over $300,000 in shares subscribed and approximately an equal amount reserved.

Washington Chapter of the National Institute of Credit, the educational department of the Washington Association of Credit Men, yesterday awarded certificates to those who had successfully completed the course in financial organization and management, given last term under the direction of John A. Reilly.

Certificates were presented by Waldo J. Tastet, president of the local association, at its regular meeting at the Hamilton Hotel.

Those receiving certificates were Norman E. Estes, Henry P. Ames, W. W. Weidman, L. M. Hewlett, M. Carlton Eaton and P. J. Eichhorn. Highest honors went to Norman E. Estes, of the Hugh Reilly Co., who acted as chairman of the educational committee and who has taken considerable interest in the work.

The E. S. Brashears Agency, Washington branch of the Union Central Life in Cincinnati, reported a gain of over 100 per cet in net-paid-for business in May over April. Applications for insurance showed a similar increase during this period.

BANK CHIEF

GEORGE F. COOK.

GEORGE COOK HEADS OLD DOMINION BANK

George F. Cook was elected president of the newly organized Old Dominion Bank, which replaces the People's State Bank of Cherrydale, at the organization meeting of the board of directors last night at Cherrydale. Other officers are George S. Douglass, vice president and chairman of the board; Clarence E. Simmons, secretary-treasurer, and Walter U. Varney, general counsel. William E. BOOKKEEPER HELD IN EMBEZZLEMENT

William Harley, 51, of 1791 Lanier place northwest, bookkeeper of the Manor Club, near Norbeck, Md., was arrested last night by Detective Theodore Voilten, of the Montgomery County Police, on charge of embezzling $2,410.39 of the club's funds. He was being held last night at the Bethesda substation.

Harley was arrested on a warrant ordered by State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, of Montgomery County, himself a prominent member of the club. The bookkeeper is alleged to have given the State's attorney a signed confession in which he admitted embezzlement of the money and exonerated all other employes of the club. He explained that the money had been turned in by various members as dues and that he had placed the proper amount on the member's card, but had failed to post it in the cash book.

The prisoner told State's Attorney Prescott that he had used the money to gamble at the race tracks and at a gambling establishment. State's Attorney Prescott ordered the warrant issued after officers of the club had reported the result of an audit of Harley's accounts showing an alleged shortage.

BANKER SAYS STOCK BOUGHT TO AID WIFE

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—Because "it was a nightmare to me to think of the way this stock was eating into her estate, Charles E. Mitchell testified today he turned over insurance premiums and other moneys to his wife and later repurchased the stock he claims he sold her.

Continuing all day the testimony he started yesterday at his trial on charges of evading $850,000 income taxes in 1929 and 1930, the former National City Bank chairman disclosed that pending gift tax legislation also figured in his decision to buy back the 18,300 shares of bank stocks he conveyed to Mrs. Mitchell in 1929 to record an income loss.

United States Attorney George Z. Medalie has argued that Mitchell's action in taking back the stock bolsters the Government's allegation that the transaction was a sham and not a real sale.

Mitchell outlined in detail the "embarrassing position" in which he said he found himself as the result of the $6,000,000 outstanding on a loan he obtained from J. P. Morgan & Co. and the decline in the market price of the bank stock he had posted as collateral.

Miss McHugh Bride Of Charles Fierst.

The marriage of Miss Anne Loretta McHugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin McHugh, to Mr. Charles Fierst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Fierst, of Pittsburgh, Pa., took place at 6 o'clock yesterday evening at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, when the ceremony was performed by Mgr. P. C. Gavin. The church was decorated with Easter lilies and palms and ferns.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a gown of ivory-tinted Chantilly lace over satin made with a moderately high neck line and long tight-fitting sleeves with points that came down over the hands.

The pattern of the lace was outlined with silver thread, and the train fell from the waistline. Her voluminous tulle veil was held with a cap of the lace garlanded with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Joseph M. Droney, of Pittsburgh, acted as matron of honor for her sister, and another sister, Miss Monica Josephine McHugh, was maid of honor. They were gowned alike in imported models of Chantilly lace in peach color and their large horse-hair hats and satin slippers were of turquoise blue to match the ribbon girdles on their gowns. Their bouquets were of Johanna Hill roses and blue delphiniums.

The bride's other attendants were Mrs. Oswald De La Rosa, Miss Evelyn Virginia Fierst, Miss Margaret Frances Brown and Miss Frances Ursula McHugh, who also wore Chantilly lace gowns with blue sashes and their hats and slippers were peach to match their gowns.

Their bouquets were of talisman roses and delphinium. The bride's little nieces, Dierdre M. Droney and Jacqueline Joy Droney, attended her, the former as flower girl and the latter as train bearer. They wore ruffled frocks of peach georgette with tulle bows in their hair and the former carried a basket of sweetheart roses and baby's breath. Young Frederick Donnelly, who was ring bearer, wore a white satin suit.

Mr. Martin McHugh was best man and the ushers included Mr. Philip Degman, Mr. Oswaldo De La Rosa, Mr. Clemens Leinweler, Mr. Frank Coleman and Mr. Joseph Droney.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held at the Mayflower, where the young couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. McHugh, who wore a gown of beige lace with a brown picture hat and brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of orchids, and by Mrs. Fierst, mother of the bridegroom, whose hat and gown were of Eleanor blue. Mr. Fierst and his bride left later for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a beige crepe coat suit with a straw hat and accessories of brown. They will go to Pittsburgh later to spend the summer and return to Washington in the autumn.

The Meanderer

Searches for Coolest Frocks Finds Cotton Nets and Sea Wave Linens.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Swirls of white cotton net make a bridal gown that appears to be the coolest thing on F street—and more swirls of pastel nets make delightful gowns for maids of honor and bridesmaids. These cotton net gowns for summer weddings and other important occasions have been given much favor in New York City. Their airy coolness is not their only advantage. Their cost is decidedly low. The bridal gown is just $35, the rosy-pink maid of honor frock is $29.75, and the bridesmaids gowns are but $25. Bridesmaids may have a choice of several pastel colors in these appealing, economical gowns. Some of the frocks have detachable capes. The bride's gown may be worn suitably later as a summer evening gown. The veil to match the bride's gown has an edging of white waxed flowers that is new and effective. The price of the matching net veil is $15.

Sea wave linen is just a name the Meanderer uses for the material in a most effective evening dress for summer. The material is not striped, but has lines of color rippling on a white background. Blue-green makes the rippling pattern the Meanderer likes to call sea wave effect, and no costume in Washington can exceed its degree of cool appearance.

Circular frills frame the low-cut back of these sea wave linen gowns and form a simulated sleeve. Tomato red, orange and yellow ripples make patterns in other frocks like the blue-green one.

Fluttering ostrich scarfs in pale tints to match fluttering chiffon gowns are other findings in cool-looking summer fashions. Blue, pink, yellow and white ostrich is attached to chiffon capes that match the gowns, so that the cape serves as the summer evening wrap. Surprisingly enough, the price of these exquisite creations is only $37.50.

Distinction in dotted Swiss is easily acquired if the method is by way of a black Swiss dotted with white in a Sunday evening frock, worn with a full sleeved jacket cut with a quaint peplum. If the Meanderer were directed to buy a captivating summer frock, with a style all its own, for a limited sum, this black and white dotted Swiss would have serious consideration. Its price is only $9.95.

A black pique frock with a white pique coat in lines that differ from the usual is an interesting offering for $29.50 in one dress salon.

Cool appearance for the table may come from the use of the Savoy pattern, all-white Spode ware so well received by patrons of a Connecticut avenue china shop. This pattern is among the several favored by brides for their dinner ware. The Meanderer soon will have more data on china to report to her readers. Incidentally, the china shop featuring the all-white Spode in Savoy pattern has dozens of patterns in fine china and is supplied with booklets giving the historic background of Wedgwood, Spode and other noteworthy china that have stood the test of years.

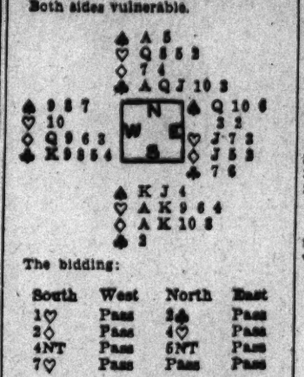
WELL BID BUT BADLY PLAYED.

ONE of the most famous pairs in Bridge bid a Grand Slam on the following hand in a recent Rubber game in New York City. The bidding by which they reached this final contract was quite excellent but the play of the eventual Declarer was not up to his usual standard and the contract was defeated one trick.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	2♠	Pass
2◇	Pass	4♡	Pass
4NT	Pass	5NT	Pass
7♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Excellent use of the new Four-Five Notrump Convention enabled North and South to locate all the key cards and reach this Grand-Slam contract. The Opening lead was the spade 9. Declarer played low from Dummy and captured East's Queen with his King. Several lines of play were now open. South could play to ruff one diamond in Dummy and leave himself the club finesse for his thirteenth trick. However any discerning Declarer, playing a seven contract, tries to avoid a finesse, if possible, particularly when it can be taken one of two ways. Another line of play is for Declarer to try to ruff two diamonds in Dummy, hoping that either the opposing trumps are divided 2-2 or the hand with only three diamonds has only one trump. However, it was the consensus of the gallery of expert kibitzers that neither of these two methods of play was correct.

The way the hand was actually played was as follows: Declarer drew the trumps and, when he saw they did not break, proceeded to play the club finesse the wrong way—that is, he went up with the Ace and subsequently led the Queen through after first ruffing out a low one. The correct line of play, which would have won the hand, is as follows:

South should, at Trick 2, enter Dummy with the Ace of spades and then return to his hand by leading the Ace and a small club. He should then lead the Knave of spades, and if this trick is not trumped by West, which seems unlikely, he should discard a diamond from Dummy. This would enable him to trump the second and third rounds of diamonds, reducing the danger of an over-ruff. If the Knave of spades is trumped, Declarer can still take the club finesse, hoping that the King is in the East hand—but it happens in this case that the Knave of spades would win the trick and the rest of the play would be quite simple.

The hand is quite close, however, and Declarer can not be too severely criticized. It is hands like this, on which even the world's best players go wrong, that give Contract Bridge its great appeal and keep even ranking experts from attaining perfection.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

How should North and South bid the hands below, East and West always passing?

West, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Little Girl Gives Chest Entire Allowance of $4

One of those gifts that mean much more than the money involved was received by the Community Chest yesterday when Ann C. Peter, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armistead Peter, jr., 1644 Thirty-first street northwest, came to the Community Chest office proudly bearing four $1 bills.

Little Miss Peter explained to the cashier, who wrote her a receipt, that she had saved this money in pennies and nickels and dimes from her allowance and that she wanted it to go to help some child in need. The money will be used to help in paying for the care of a crippled child at Children's Hospital.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

F. P. GUTHRIE has been appointed district communications manager in Washington of R. C. A. Communications and of the Radiomarine Corporation. These two subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America handle, respectively, the point-to-point radiotelegraph service and the marine radio service.

This coincided with the completion by Mr. Guthrie of ten years' service for the R. C. A. group. Although always primarily interested in the radiotelegraphic branch of the company's service, Mr. Guthrie, in the early days of radio, also was charged with responsibility for broadcasting and the sale of apparatus in the Washington territory. With the establishment of subsidiary corporations to handle these activities, Mr. Guthrie continued his supervision of their operations until they were able to stand alone.

Mr. Guthrie came to R. C. A. from the Shipping Board, having been assigned to that duty by order of Franklin D. Roosevelt, then Assistant Secretary of the Navy. During the war he was in the Naval Reserve Force. Prior to the war he was assistant professor of physics at the Citadel, the Military College of South Carolina.

C. E. Pfautz has been appointed manager of the R. C. A. central frequency bureau and the main office of the bureau has been transferred from New York City to Washington. The frequency bureau was established for the purpose of handling all matters concerning radio station licenses, the assignment and use of frequencies, interference between stations and similar related matters.

Mr. Pfautz has been with the R. C. A. group almost since its inception, having been for many years in charge of the central receiving station of R. C. A. Communications at Riverhead, Long Island.

ORTIZ TIRADO, Mexico City surgeon and leading tenor of Mexico's National Opera Company, will sing during the Pan-American Union concert tonight.

Dr. Tirado will be heard with the Marine Band, under the direction of Capt. Taylor Branson, which will provide the orchestral portion of the broadcast over WMAL at 9 o'clock.

Radio Joe will dedicate his program tonight to Joe Turner, wrestling promoter, in recognition of what the latter has done for worthy causes.

"He is putting on a wrestling match at Griffith Stadium Thursday evening to help the National Capital Civic Fund," says Radio Joe, "therefore we desire to honor him."

Phil Regan, young Irish tenor, who used to be a cop on the beat, is the latest idol of the broadcasting studios' page boys. Phil shows the boys he's thinking of them now and then by playing practical jokes.

The other night, though, the boys thought of Phil. While he was waiting to go on the air in a late broadcast he expressed a keen desire for a sandwich and a glass of ale. The pages snapped into action and in less time than it takes to lose a horse race, a caterer appeared with what was rumored to be a fillet of sole sandwich.

It looked good. The young tenor bit down hard. A gleam came into his eyes and he launched into an aria, the words of which seemed to be "Oh, Sole Me Eye." From his teeth there hung the neatly carved and washed sole of Tony Wons' overshoe.

SENATOR ARTHUR ROBINSON, of Indiana, member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, will speak over WOL at 8 o'clock tonight. His subject will be "We Must Maintain the Policy of the Fathers in No Entangling Alliances."

Another of the programs of the All-Star After Dinner Club is scheduled for WJSV at 9:30 o'clock tonight. Marguerite Cromwell and James Wilkinson will sing "They Didn't Believe Me," from "Girl From Utah," with an accompaniment by Schramm's orchestra.

Horses will be heard coming down the home stretch in the running of the Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park. (WRC, 2:45 p. m.

George B. Cortelyou, former Washingtonian, president of the Edison Electric Institute and Secretary of the Treasury in the Cabinet of President Theodore Roosevelt, will be the principal speaker in an Electric Day program to be broadcast from the Electrical Building of the Century of Progress over WRC at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Cortelyou is one of the outsatnding figures of the electrical industry in the United States. He began his association with public utilities in 1909, when he became president of the Consolidated Gas Co., of New York.

"Tennessee's Partner," by Bret Harte, will be the second of the short-story classics to be dramatized in the "Tales of the Titans" series now current over WMAL each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Among other notable short-story dramatizations which will be included in the "Tales of the Titans" series are "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Poe's "The Purloined Letter" and O. Henry's "The Theory and the Hound."

MINIATURE revivals of operettas and musical comedies, to be known as "Curtain Calls," will be presented over WJSV each Wednesday at 7:15 p. m., beginning tonight. The first presentation will be an abbreviated version of Romberg's "Blossom Time."

The premiere of a new summer series of concerts presented by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Dr. Frederick Stock will be broadcast tonight at 8:35 o'clock over WMAL. These programs, given under the auspices of the Friends of Music, will be presented as a festival of music for the Century of Progress Exposition and will come from the Auditorium Theater, Chicago, near the World's Fair grounds.

Winifred Ovitte, fashion editor of Women's Wear, will give the feminine listeners the last word on "Beach Clothes" in the Woman's Radio Review at 2:30 p. m., over WRC.

Today Means

By MARY BLAKE

"GEMINI."

IF June 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:55 a. m. to 8:10 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 3:40 p. m., and from 7:45 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:40 a. m. to 11:45 a. m., and from 4:30 p. m. to 6 p. m.

The child born on this June 7, will probably have many spats and fights with those of his own age and in most cases will be the aggressor. You will find in this little one a strong desire to lead; this characteristic will be apparent all through life, becoming stronger as he advances in years.

If June 7 is the date of your birth you are in all probability not slow to claim your rights under any circumstances. Take care, however, not to be too aggressive lest you become unpopular thereby. You are inclined to disregard the opinions of the mass to greater degree than is wise. One should not be a slave to public opinion but to run counter to it, often unnecessary, will invariably cause difficulty. You have a goodly number of worthy qualities but you must strive more to develop them. Kindness, consideration for others, frankness, a desire for the finer things of life and honesty are attributes of yours.

Born on June 7, you probably have a winning way with the opposite sex. You are not one, however, to lead another on and then jilt that person. The right mate is essential to your happiness and until you are married you will feel that your existence is not complete. The old saying, "Lucky at cards, unlucky in love" would seem to be applicable to you.

Successful people born on June 7: Edward Winslow, loyalist. John A. Darling, composer. John Satterfield, oil operator.

Latin-American Concert Tonight

The sixty-sixth concert of Latin-American music will be held on the esplanade of the Pan-American Union tonight at 9 o'clock. A special program has been prepared for the Marine Band by Capt. Taylor Branson, its leader.

The vocalist is Ortiz Tirado, Mexican tenor, recognized in his own country as possessing one of its outstanding voices. He will sing three groups of songs.

A special wire will carry the program to Schenectady, where it will be sent over short-wave channel to Latin-America, where it will be rebroadcast by local stations there.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ONE of the disquieting reports from Hollywood is to the effect that with the completion of "Berkeley Square," in which he is currently engaged on the Fox lot, Leslie Howard will shake the dust of the film colony from his heels, England-bound, and nothing will stop him this side of hell and high water!

Heather Angel.

It is reported further that Mr. Howard is defying tradition and snapping his fingers in the face of the depression by adhering to his determination to leave for home within the next few weeks despite the avalanche of handsome offers that continue to pour in on him for further professional activity on the West Coast.

There is, of course, a reason for all this. Leslie Howard is going home because a year ago he made a promise to the famous Anglo-American producer, Gilbert Miller, that he would appear in both a play and a motion picture for him whenever called upon to do so.

To grasp the full worth of Mr. Howard's fidelity to a promise and the extent of his financial sacrifice in keeping it, one should know that the picture and stage business in England is not, at the moment, what it is in America. In Hollywood, Howard is reputed to be earning as much money as any male star within the past few years. His going home, simply to keep a promise made a year ago, when he was not as much in demand as he is now, will mean a monetary loss that can be figured 'way up in the thousands.

Money, it seems, means nothing to this sterling young actor; independence everything.

In the strictest sense, Howard's desertion of Hollywood for the old country is an eloquent example of his innate sentimentalism. Gilbert Miller helped him in the early days when the Howard name meant very little. Now that that name flashes on thousands of marquees throughout the world, the actor feels that he is more than ever in a position to be of real aid to his friend.

Shortly after his arrival in London with his family, Howard will appear in Miller's stage production of "Riviera," and then in a motion picture to be decided upon when the two have their first business conference. It is probable that Constance Cummings, to be seen with Warren William in "The Mind Reader," at the Columbia next week, will play the feminine lead.

Speaking of feminine leads, in "Berkeley Square," the screen version of the stage play of the same name, the role of chief importance opposite Leslie Howard will be played by a gifted newcomer from Mr. Howard's native England, Miss Heather Angel.

Miss Angel is an attractive young woman of 24, who received her first stage training at the Old Vic in London, and made her first public appearance there in 1926, walking on in "King John." Something of her versatility may be gathered from the fact that while she received much of her early experience in classic drama, she has also appeared to advantage in such frivolous farces as the venerable "Charley's Aunt" and in such eerie thrillers as Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Hound of the Baskervilles."

Prof. Frank La Falce, chief statistical expert of the local Warner offices in the matter of box-office reactions to Warner Brothers product, calls up, all a-twitter and with perspiration dripping from his voice, to say that Memphis, Tenn., has been added to the short and select list of try-out cities in which "Gold Diggers of 1933," opening at the Earle with a special midnight public preview Thursday at 11:15 p. m., has broken all previous attendance records, including those set up by the sensational "Forty-second Street."

This, at first blush, seems a remarkable achievement for this time of year. Such points as Oklahoma City and Memphis would hardly be chosen at random as cities in which summer time records might reasonably be expected to be established. Yet, this is not abnormal in the case of "Gold Diggers of 1933."

The screen version of this breezy Avery Hopwood farce, originally produced by the late David Belasco, with Ina Claire, Jobyna Howland and Lilyan Tashman in the cast, has always been a hot-weather hit. It was in the midst of the heated term that the original Warner production of "Gold Diggers," entirely in technicolor, was released. Regardless of temperatures, it smashed records right and left.

The new production of the same gay charade seems merely to be affording another instance of the infallibility with which history repeats itself.

A brief bulletin, shrouded in anonymity and surrounded by secrecy as regards its origin, presents itself mysteriously upon the uncluttered top of an immaculate desk to convey the exciting tidings that "Little White Mice," a new three-act comedy by Edward de Selding Melcher, our nimble and energetic young confrere of the Evening Star, will be presented by the Pierce Hall Players the middle of July. Rehearsals of the play have already begun under the direction of Paul Alexander.

Mr. Melcher will be recalled as the author and star of one of the more engaging skits presented upon the program of the Sunday night testimonial performance for the National Theater Players a year go. It will be interesting to note into what sort of three-act accomplishment his one-act promise has bloomed.

It would be nice if Miss Arnat, the former Mrs. Johnny Weismuller, would establish some definite and dependable spelling of her first name. Back in the old Ziegfeld days, the star of the condensed version of "Whoopee," now on the stage at Loew's Fox, it seems to me, called it Bobbe. This week it has appeared as Bobbe, Bobby, Bobbie and if there is any other way to spell it, probably that, too.

So, hereafter, to play safe, I think I shall call her Robert!

According to the last issue of the London Era, the sensational musical film in the British capital beginning September 4, its release date, is expected to be Gaumont's "Waltz Time," adapted from Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus," with much of the Strauss music retained.

The star of this picture is the blondely beautiful Evelyn Laye, who is not unknown to American audiences. The pictures of Miss Laye being published in connection with the exploitation of this film bear a much stronger resemblance to our own Madge Evans than they do to the brilliant young Englishwoman who made so decisive an impression on this side in "Bitter Sweet," on the stage, and "One Heavenly Night," on the screen.

And that reminds me. In "One Heavenly Night," John Boles was Miss Laye's leading man. Shortly after the picture was made, he visited Washington on one of his spring tours of personal appearances and had an interesting story to tell about why there was only one magnificent Great Dane dog in the picture, when all of the advance publicity had stressed the presence of a whole pack of them.

When "One Heavenly Night" went into work, the entire kennel of Danes was present and accounted for. But as the shooting progressed, they started a series of elimination contests among themselves that depopulated the set every time they started.

By the time the dogs got through fighting among themselves, there was only one left to finish the picture!

How can you expect a press agent to rib up a series of dog fights? Dogs only dive in water!

The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Among those attending were Mrs. H. C. Abell and her daughter, Miss Margaret Abell, of New York, Mrs. Hunter Snyder and Capt. and Mrs. H. S. Abell, of Washington. The bride, who was given in marriage by Mrs. Wilder, wore a gown of azure blue flat crepe and a large white hat. Her shoulder corsage was of gardenias, lilies of the valley and maidenhair fern. Marguerite Tisinger Bride of Francis L. Dugan.

The wedding of Miss Marguerite Tisinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tisinger, to Mr. Francis L. Dugan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Dugan, was solemnized yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Gabriel's Church, the Rev. Joseph M. Nelligan, assistant pastor, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace gown, the bodice tight-fitting, and the skirt forming a long circular train. The sleeves, puffed at the shoulders, were long, with a ruffle extending over her hands. Her tulle veil was held in place by a white lace cap, and she wore a short face veil. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Jane Klein, cousin of the bride and her only attendant, was attired in a gown of peach mousseline de soie, its trimming being vari-colored appliqued flowers and a velvet sash of a deeper shade of peach. Her lace mitts and slippers and her hat, a small model of crepe, all matching her gown, completed the costume. Miss Klein carried an arm bouquet of old-fashioned flowers.

Mr. James Dugan, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers included Mr. John Dugan, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. R. Leroy Kemp. The church was decorated with white begonias and palms.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the Burlington Hotel. The young couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Tisinger, mother of the bride, wearing a beige crepe dress and brown hat with a shoulder bouquet of tea roses, and by Mrs. Dugan, mother of the bridegroom, in a gown of flowered chiffon with a white hat and a shoulder bouquet of gardenias.

Mr. Dugan and his bride left in the afternoon for a motor trip to New York and New England, the latter wearing an ensemble of green crepe with beige accessories. They will be at home after June 30, in Hampshire Gardens.

Trinity Episcopal Church, Staunton, Va., was the scene of a wedding yesterday afternoon, when Miss Mildred Lee Stott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon Stott, and Mr. William Holmes Yeakley, son of the late Dr. William Holmes and Mrs. Eleanor Ranson Yeakley, also of Staunton.

The church was an ideal setting for an afternoon wedding. The chancel, with decorations of white roses and ferns, made a lovely background for the wedding party. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John J. Gravatt, rector.

The bride's attendants were attired in pastel shades of organdy. Mrs. William Leonard Gardner, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a frock of beige crepe and a picture hat of beige lace. She carried an arm bouquet of talisman roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Alexander Opie, wearing a pale green organdy and small green hat trimmed in yellow. Mrs. Harry Hamilton Brown wore pale pink organdy with small hat of pink, and both bridesmaids carried old-fashioned nosegays.

The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. John Gordon Stott, jr., who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of pale blue taffeta, made very full and long on old-fashioned lines. Her close-fitting hat was of pale blue taffeta, and her bouquet and old-fashioned nosegay of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Yeakley had for his best man his cousin, Mr. William A. Glasgow, of Washington. The groomsmen were Mr. Alfred Taylor, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. William Leonard Gardner, of York, S. C.; Mr. Hierome L. Opie, jr., of Staunton; Mr. Edward Ranson, of Richmond; Mr. James Kimball, of Burlingame, Calif., and Mr. Harry Hamilton Brown, of Charlottesville.

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple: — a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

Stocks Forced Into Decline After Rail Dividend Slash

Larger Losses Reduced in Late Rally; Sales Up to 6,205,969 Shares.

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—Financial trading continued brisk today on the stock exchange where shares stumbled into selling after an early advance and then firmed again.

Stocks were mostly higher until noon when Santa Fe's directors announced the preferred dividend cut. This chilled all rail issues and advances in other directions were checked. However, late buyers effected a reduction of most losses and the average net change by the 90-stock composite was a trifling loss. Volume totaled 6,205,969 shares.

Steels were steady to firm; so were utilities whose average edged into new high ground. A few recent fast movers in the industrial category backed water, but there was a liberal assortment of gains for specialties. Carriers remained rather heavy.

Santa Fe's senior stock closed 11 points lower, and the common softened 4. The dividend change came as something of a surprise; obviously the stock, recently around 80, had not been expecting such action, despite the road's operating deficit for the first four months of this year. Illinois Central, Lackawanna, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific yielded 1 to 2.

U. S. Steel reached a new high for the year, at 54¾, but closed unchanged. National Steel advanced on reports that the dividend might be increased, while Republic, Youngstown and Vanadium made progress. General Motors, Chrysler and Nash kept the motor group prominent. Elsewhere, Allied Chemical lost 3, Case 2 and American Tobacco "B," American Telephone, American Can, Du Pont and Union Carbide 1 each.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—Moderate trading was reported today in gray cotton goods markets. Finished goods are being enamored for later delivery wherever the highest prices are not insisted on. Many houses are still holding all goods at value or withdrawn from sale. Wool goods were firm with a rising trend and sold moderately. Silk goods were firmer. More fall business is coming to hand. Burlaps were firm on high levels. Rayon sales for August delivery have nearly taken care of the volume of yarns producers care to sell at this time.

Curb Prices Higher In Heavier Trading

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—Stocks on the curb market were churned about in heavy dealings today. Considerable realizing made for a rather ragged aspect at times, but a late upturn canceled losses sufficiently to give the market an irregularly higher appearance at the close. Volume expanded to 1,167,000 shares, compared with 840,000 on Monday.

$6,000,000 Silver Shipment Is Received in New York

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—One of the largest silver shipments ever to arrive in the port of New York was today being taken from the hold of the Dollar liner President Grant. The shipment was valued at about $6,000,000 and consisted of both specie and ingots.

The metal was consigned to the Bank of Shanghai, China, half going to its New York branch and the remainder to a Perth Amboy, N. J., smelter.

Transfer of the metal from the ship was under the supervision of armed guards.

Bonds Again Climb To New High Level

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—Strength of industrial and utility specialties gave the bond market another upward push today despite some irregularities.

The average for 60 domestic corporate issues, for the twelfth consecutive session, reached a new high for the year at 77.9, up two-tenths of a point. Sales totaled $17,561,000, par value, against $13,922,000 yesterday.

WHEAT VALUES SINK ON WEATHER REPORT

Higher Prices in Early Sales Lost Near Closing; Oats Advance.

Chicago, June 6 (A.P.).—Responding to forecasts of cooler weather, wheat prices underwent something of a setback late today.

The downturn of values came after prices earlier had averaged higher, influenced by the fact that this was the fourth successive day of scorching temperatures Southwest and West, with the mercury in some cases breaking the top record. Crop experts expressed belief that shriveled and light-weight wheat would constitute a large part of the 1933 harvest.

Wheat closed nervous, ½ to ⅝ under yesterday's finish; corn, ½ to ⅞ down, oats, ¼ to ⅜ advance, and provisions showing 5 to 10 cents decline.

Improved conditions for corn planting tended to pull corn prices down. Oats were relatively firm owing to crop damage reports from parts of Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

Provisions lacked support notwithstanding upturns of hog values.

COTTON PRICES CUT BY LIQUIDATING RUSH

July Sells at 9.08, With the General Market Down 12 to 16 Points.

New York, June 6 (A.P.).—Fluctuations were rather nervous and irregular in cotton today, with rallies from an early decline followed by renewed weakness under liquidation promoted by the afternoon heaviness of the stock market.

October contracts broke to 9.21, but recovered part of the loss, closing at 9.32. The general market closed steady 6 net declines of 12 to 16 points.

July sold from 9.08 to 9.29 and December from 9.49 to 9.86, making net advances of 4 to 6 points on active positions, with the buying attributed partly to rumors of improving prospects for acreage production.

Much of the day's business was attributed to evening-up of commitments while awaiting decisions in Washington, with reference to acreage reduction.

According to the New York Cotton Exchange Service, sales of fertiliser tags for May totaled 174,000 tons, compared with 95,000 last year.

Liverpool cables report a quiet market there with early steadiness followed by reactions under profit-taking. Exports today, 12,710, making 7,312,160 so far this season. Port receipts, 22,416. U. S. port stocks, 3,858,648.

WAR DEBT PAY DAY STIRS SPECULATION

British Cabinet to Consider Problem as Roosevelt Remains Silent.

(Associated Press.)

Approach of payment day for the European war debtors a week hence stirred a fresh revival of speculation on this controversy yesterday, but found President Roosevelt still silent and apparently standing firm for payment of the $144,179,674 due.

News that the British cabinet would meet in extraordinary session Friday to tackle the problem, linked with intimations from London that it expected word on the attitude of the United States at that time, brought from the White House only this statement signed by Stephen T. Early, a secretary to the President:

"There has been no official word from Great Britain on war debts. Therefore, no official reply is being prepared."

Feelers Are Put Out.

There were indications yesterday, however, that feelers are being put out by the British and that informal talks on the thorny debt question are proceeding. Great Britain owes a big chunk of the debts due next week—$75,950,000. Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, has been a frequent caller at the State Department recently.

However, the ambassador has not gone directly to President Roosevelt, and the President has made it clear that he alone is going to deal with the debtors.

The silent attitude of Mr. Roosevelt on the war debts problem, an issue in Congress, has led to the belief here that he will not formally sanction any revision of the June 15 payments. Apparently he expects the full payment and will take all he can get.

French Status Unchanged.

As for France, the President has made the payment of her defaulted December 15 installment of $19,000,000 a requirement for any negotiations on the June 15 installment, which amounts to $40,000,000.

London, June 6 (A.P.).—A special meeting of the British cabinet will be held Friday, when the problem of what to do about the American debt payment due June 15 may be threshed out to a decision.

Officials intimated today in announcing the summoning of the extraordinary meeting of ministers that the government expects to have by Friday some indication from Washington of what the American Government is counting on from London when pay day rolls around.

Chamberlain Is Silent.

The regular weekly sitting of the cabinet will be held tomorrow, but as a number of members of the government have not returned from Whitsun holidays questions of major policy are not likely to be treated profoundly.

The House of Commons, now in adjournment, will want to have a definite announcement upon the debt question when it reassembles two days before the payment is due.

Several attempts have been in the House to extract a statement from Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, but this minister has persistently refused to show his hand.

There have been repeated intimations from government quarters that some further move was expected from the United States Government, but what the basis of this expectation is has not been disclosed.

K. of C. Meeting at Clarendon.

In accordance with instructions from the supreme council there will be a special meeting of Edward Douglas White Council, No. 2473, Knights of Columbus, this evening at 8 o'clock in their clubhouse, 14 Garrison road, at Clarendon. The gathering is being held to meet Special Agent James O'Leary, of Atlanta, Ga. State Deputy-Elect James A. Blake, of Richmond, Va., is expected to attend.

Welcome!

Bethesda Greeting Sign Is Mysteriously Returned as Feud Climax.

Sh-h-h-h. It's a secret, but it leaked out yesterday. The 200-pound metal sign that for several years stood north of Bradley lane on Wisconsin avenue to welcome visitors to Bethesda, Md., has been mysteriously returned. The sign which said "Welcome to Bethesda" for the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce, much to the disgust of the residents of Chevy Chase, who claimed it really had been placed in Chevy Chase and not in Bethesda at all, was stolen one night a month or so ago.

It was returned to Ralph Sabine, chairman of the committee on industrial and retail interests of the chamber, yesterday with the proviso that identity of the persons who took it away as the climax of a bitter controversy that nearly wrecked the chamber and caused threat of boycott of Bethesda merchants by Chevy Chase, should not be revealed.

Sabine kept the faith and refused to tell inquisitive newshounds who had taken the sign.

AMERICAN CHILDREN SHOW MALNUTRITION

State Official's Report Tells Effect of Depression on Underfeeding.

There is marked evidence of malnutrition among children in 15 American States and Canadian provinces, according to a report made yesterday before the conference here of State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America.

The report, submitted by Dr. Felix J. Underwood, State health officer of Mississippi, was based on a questionnaire seeking to establish the effect the depression has had on underfeeding. The answers were derived by comparing 1932 records to those of 1929. Twenty States and provinces reported no change from 1929.

Infant mortality in States that compile figures was shown to have dropped in the 20 years between 1910 and 1930 from 124 per 100,000 to 64.

The general practitioner was described as the keystone of the medical profession and lauded for his cooperation with public health boards.

Regret was expressed that only one dairy in a community can be licensed to distribute the so-called vitaminized milk, which contains vitamin D, a substance which prevents the development of rickets. The vitamin is placed in milk through certain patented preparations and its distribution is controlled by manufacturing companies.

Speaking on the general practice of the medical profession, Dr. Louis Dublin, statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., declared the day of economic individualism in the medical profession at an end. "There must be organized community effort," he said.

CATHEDRAL SCHOOL AWARDS DIPLOMAS

Secretary Wallace Speaks to Class at Services in Great Choir.

The commencement of the National Cathedral School for Girls was held in the great choir and sanctuary of Washington Cathedral yesterday morning with Secretary of Agriculture Henry T. Wallace as the speaker.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, presented the diplomas to the large class of graduates.

In his remarks Secretary Wallace reminded the graduates that America is in the "18-year-old class" and has not yet reached maturity as a Nation. This he held to be one cause of the present troubled conditions.

The lesson was read by the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of Washington, and among the other clergymen taking part were the Rev. Dr. G. Freeland Peter, canon and chancellor of the cathedral; the Rev. Dr. William L. DeVries, canon precentor, and Canon Raymond L. Wolven, chaplain to Bishop Freeman.

The graduates were presented to Bishop Freeman for their diplomas by Miss Mabel Turner, principal of the school.

Anna Dunlap Bucher, Harriet Talcott Clarke, Barbara Allyn Cope, Jane Randolph Duenner, Katherine Dutton, Virginia Hamilton Frame, Katherine Watkins Fulton, Lita Graham, Christine Potter Hannum, Ellen Clarke House, Margaret Louise Hunter, Florence Jane Lindgren, Mary McIntyre, Ruth Marlow, Elizabeth Green Metts, Margaret Mary Moore, Martha Evelyn Morrison, Barbara Ruffin, Isabel Stevenson, Linda Mary Stevenson, Margaret Priscilla Struble, Katherine Fielding Dashiell Uehling, Alice Virginia Williams, Margaret Belle Wigginton, Mildred Wrightson.

Members in college—Katherine Burdell Ahalt, Janet MacLeod Burbank, Jane Weston Coyle, Jane Henderson Boyden Craige, Frances Fields, Margaret Lee Ferguson, Elizabeth Hammond Mansel, Carol Marion, Marjorie Means, Lucy Berkeley Moore, Margaret Watson Moore, Ella Campbell Myer, Ernestine Dorothy Richter, Frances Isabel Shepard, Sarah Helen Todd, Helen Isabel Wile.

Beer Tax Nets $4,904 to District.

Two hundred retail beer licenses yesterday reported sales of 1,665 barrels during May in reports to the District tax assessor. This brings the total reports to 590 and the tax collected to $4,904.

Fish Strays

Carp Seen in White House Lily Ponds Puzzles Workmen.

Aloysius, the Wandering Fish, was safe last night in one of the formal White House fish ponds, but there was no warrant for belief, in view of his past, that he would remain there.

Aloysius came as a considerable surprise yesterday to workmen who were cleaning out the lily pond at the east entrance to the White House. Never fish has been known there before, but there undoubtedly Aloysius was—a 14-inch carp swimming lazily alone.

He wasn't put there officially, by anybody's orders, and only the most warped sense of humor would put him there as a joke. He must have just walked, and if he can walk into one pool he can certainly walk out of the other into which he was transferred.

DEATH OF KIDNAPERS IN KANSAS CITY AIM

Kansas City, June 6 (A.P.).—Warrants charging the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy, prepared under the State law providing death as the maximum penalty, were issued today against Walter H. McGee and Clarence Click, in custody, and Clarence Stevens and George McGee, fugitives.

McGee and Click, who authorities say have confessed their part in the abduction of the 25-year-old daughter of City Manager H. F. McElroy, were arraigned and their preliminary hearing set for June 16. They were held without bail.

Lucille Cates, divorced wife of Walter McGee, was released on a $500 bond as a witness.

Bernard Ellsworth, who disclosed the hiding place in his used lumber yard of $1,795 identified by police as part of the $30,000 which ransomed Miss McElroy also was released. The prosecutor had made no investigation, he said, of the circumstances surrounding Ellsworth's arrest today.

STAINED GARMENTS CLEW IN DEATH OF 2

Clothing, Found on Florida Road, May Solve Slaying of Virginia Sisters.

Miami Beach, Fla., June 6 (A.P.).—Stained garments picked up on a highway were examined today by investigators searching for clews in the mysterious slaying of Miss Lillian Howard and Mrs. Meyer Shapiro, sisters, of Woodstock, Va., whose bodies were found in Dumfounding Bay.

D. M. McPherson, of Fulford, saw the clothing, two shirts and two pairs of trousers, fall from an automobile. He delivered them to authorities, who expressed the belief the stain is blood.

The officers are concentrating on tracing laundry marks under the theory that whoever wore the clothes clubbed the sisters, tied their bodies together, and cast them into the bay. They were found last week by a crew of a dredge boat.

Dragging the bay in search of the sisters' automobile was abandoned today. No trace of it was found. Officers had thought it might have been driven into the water after the slaying.

Miss Howard and Mrs. Shapiro spent the winter at a hotel here and left May 14 for Woodstock. Nothing more was seen of them until their bodies were found.

Simon Wender, of Woodstock, a nephew, identified them by dental work and had the bodies sent to Baltimore last night.

NATS DEFEATED BY MACKS' DISTANCE CLOUTS, 8-4

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, June 6.

THE NATS had one item in their favor during the game with the Athletics today. Lefty Grove was in civilian clothes in the press box with a fistful of cigars and could do them no harm.

Mr. Mack will let the Nats look at some more left-handed pitching in the final game of the series tomorrow in the person of Tony Freitas. And Joe Cronin will let the A's look at some southpaw stuff delivered by Earl Whitehill.

Big Gawge Earnshaw is still doing penance in the pregame practice of the A's. He left the field dripping wet before the game started. He's promised to reform, but Connie Mack and the rest of the A's have adopted Missouri as their domicile in the meanwhile.

Mack has had the best-hitting pitching staff in the league this week. Grove connected for a homer and a single yesterday and Mahaffey smacked a double and a single today. Whitehill figures to stop Freitas tomorrow, though.

Ossie Bluege's charley horse in his right leg began neighing when he ran out a pop fly in the fifth and handy Bob Boken attended to third base thereafter. He also attended to driving in a run in his first time at bat with a clean single off Mahaffey.

Washington's pitchers have been facing the best bunter in the American League during the last two days. Roger Cramer can call his shots like no other bunter.

Speaking of bunting, any time Joe Cronin or Fred Schulte lays one down safely the gods are with them. For a couple of high-priced ball players, they can't bunt the proverbial 2-cents' worth.

The Nats outhit the A's today, 11 to 10. But it seems that the A's had two home runs and four doubles mixed up with the rest of their hits, so the conclusion is not hard to draw.

Joe Cronin went hitless today for the first time in twelve days, and when Cronin goes hitless you can name your own ticket against the Nats.

Big Ed Coleman, who was promoted to the A's clean-up position when Jimmy Foxx struck out thirteen times during the series with the Yankees, is taking his new job seriously. He has driven in six runs in the two games with the Nats.

Max Bishop, the renowned chiseler of base on balls, got out his little chisel today to the extent of two walks following the drought on Monday.

Bob "Boike" was pitching for the Nats in eighth inning today, according to the guy who manipulates the amplifiers out in center field. Yesterday "Boike" and "Boig" were the Washington battery. Are you there, Brooklyn?

Dave Harris would not swap his pinch double off a right-handed pitcher today for a flock of triples against a left-hander.

Deck, D. C. Netman, Bows at Baltimore

Baltimore, Md., June 6.—The only Washingtonian—Pat Deck—remaining in the Maryland State championship tennis tournament on the Baltimore Country Club courts, went down to defeat today.

Deck was eliminated by Dr. John R. Howard in the second round in straight sets, 6—1, 6—2. Upsets marked the play today, the most unexpected one being the defeat of Upshur Moorehead, No. 1 on the Yale University Team this year, who is a Washington boy, by Louis Straus, of Philadelphia, by 6—4, 1—6 and 6—3.

Rival Maxes On Edge for Big Bout

Schmeling and Baer Complete Work for Battle Tomorrow.

German Still Choice; Dempsey Sees 'Gate' of $300,000.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, June 6 (A.P.).—Lacking the turbulent last minute arguments of the old days, but with interest and feeling running almost as high as it did when Tex Rickard was at the helm, Jack Dempsey's battle of the Maxes worked out of the training camp stage today and into the metropolis.

Max Baer, the bronzed young giant from California, packed his training clothes and lolled about his camp at Atlantic City, his conditioning work completed, waiting only to pull out tomorrow for New York and the 15-round engagement with Max Schmeling in the Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

Schmeling, the methodical Teuton who held the heavyweight title almost two years and wants it back, took his final boxing drill at his country club camp on Lake Swannanoa, N. J. He will rest and wait through tomorrow, staying in camp until time to drive in Thursday for the weighing-in ceremonies.

Both Battlers in Shape.

As the training drives came to an end there wasn't a sign of a scratch or imperfection on either gladiator. Baer, burned a deep brown by the New Jersey sun, weighed in around 210 pounds after his last workout, and intends to "dry out" another pound or so. He will boast a weight advantage of about 20 pounds over Schmeling, in addition to inches in height and reach. The belting Teuton will scale about 190 pounds.

While a few of the experts, crowding the past few days from as far away as California and Texas, watched Schmeling work for the last time, the remainder joined the throngs about the slightly bewildered Dempsey, talked and argued fight.

The odds in favor of the splendidly conditioned Schmeling lengthened with the arguments. His crowding offensive, bolstered with a sharp, cutting left jab and a right cross that has knocked out Johnny Risko, Mickey Walker and Young Stribling, seems the perfect battle style against a big, wide-open target of the Baer type. Today Schmeling was mentioned at 2½ to 1, with the possibility he will enter the ring at 3, or even 4 to 1.

Baer's strength, it was conceded, lies in his apparent imperviousness to punishment, his reckless courage and the body-belting power in the long arms that hang from the widest shoulders of any heavyweight in the ring today. Western critics who have seen him in recent fights insist he has improved greatly in training here.

Ticket sales went along merrily again today as a warm sun and bright skies encouraged the belief in favorable weather reports for Thursday. Dempsey believes the attendance will be well over 60,000, with gate receipts edging close to the $300,000 mark.

Stan Poreda K.O'd. By Kennedy in 10th

Newark, N. J., June 6 (U.P.).—Les Kennedy, Los Angeles heavyweight, tonight scored a technical knockout over Stanley Poreda, of Jersey City, in the tenth and final round of their main event at Dreamland Park. The result was a major upset.

Kennedy floored the New Jersey Pole four times before the referee halted the bout to save Poreda from further punishment, after being on the canvas once in the seventh, twice in the ninth and again at the opening of the tenth.

They fought on even terms until the seventh round when two hard right jolts to the chin dropped Poreda for the count of nine. Only the bell saved Poreda from an official knockout when he made his third trip to the floor in the ninth.

Kennedy weighed 193¾ pounds; Poreda, 207.

Sarron Finds Farr Easy Victim

Cleveland Vet Fails to Win a Round in Portner's Final.

Knowles, Lowry Are Winners; Bullock Scores K. O.

By DAVE HERMAN.

THE squeaky doors of Portner's Arena closed for the season last night, but not until Pete Sarron, the Birmingham buster, gave another one of his interesting boxing exhibitions. Sarron's latest victim was toothless Johnny Farr, a sawed-off featherweight from Cleveland, who went down to inglorious defeat in the feature eight-round fight.

Johnny didn't travel far. In fact, he was so hopelessly outclassed that The Post score sheet failed to record a single round in his favor. The short, squatty Ohioan, a veteran of more than ten years of ring warfare, showed a flash of his old self in the fifth, the only round in which he punched on even terms with the aggressive Dixie boy. Sarron won the rest by a healthy margin. The decision was unanimous.

Sarron Changes Ring Style.

Sarron, 4 pounds lighter than Farr, changed his style. He wasn't meeting a Tommy Paul. He was meeting an old-timer, who knew how to keep a cool head and absorb his adversary's blows. Farr was slow and sluggish. He fired a couple of good shots at Sarron's face in the third and fifth, but the Southerner retaliated each time with eight times as many punches.

A sharp jab almost floored Farr in the third. Sarron swung wildly in the fifth and took a flying leap. In the sixth, Sarron threw so many punches that Farr became groggy. With a crowd of 1,500 spurring him on, Sarron fought desperately for a knockout in the seventh. He popped Farr with smashing lefts and rights, and just before the bell sounded, Farr's knees began to sag.

The night's big thrill came in the eighth. Sarron unleashed his heavy ammunition, and a stiff right knocked Farr half way through the ropes, almost into the lap of spectators. For one moment the veteran found himself see-sawing on the ropes.

Knowles Outclasses De Angelo.

Chief Perry Knowles, Goldie Ahearn's Kosher Indian, upset the dope by taking a unanimous six-round verdict from Frankie de Angelo in the semiwindup. The Chief hit De Angelo with everything but his Injun blanket, winning every round. He punched the Italian almost at will. It was the worst licking De Angelo ever received.

Bob Lowry, promising young District lightweight, won unanimously from Al Parks, of Baltimore, in a slashing six-rounder. Lowry took every round.

In the only knockout, rugged Billy Bullock, of Philadelphia, flattened Al Cortes, Filipino, in the second of their four-round bout. A right to the body and a right to the jaw did the damage.

Chuck Henderson and Wild Bill Howell fought to a draw in the opening four, which was a rather good wrestling match.

The Old Master of the Home Run

BABE RUTH,

the elderly gentleman who was supposed to be wobbling right out of the American League, yesterday socked home run No. 11 for the season to take the major league lead in the gentle art of crashing for the circuit. Incidentally, the Yanks took both ends of a double-header from the Red Sox.

LEAGUE LEAD IS HELD BY GIANTS

New Yorkers Sweep Set With Dodgers by 7-2 Win.

BROOKLYN, June 6 (A.P.).—The New York Giants made their hits count today and rambled through behind Carl Hubbell's steady pitching to a 7-to-2 victory over the Dodgers. The victory enabled them to hold the National League lead and to sweep the three-game series.

New York pounded Owen Carroll for four runs in the second on doubles by Johnny Vergez and Blondy Ryan, singles by Bill Terry and Joe Moore, an intentional pass and a fly. Mel Ott topped off the game by clouting his sixth home run in the seventh frame. Hack Wilson walloped a circuit blow for Brooklyn in the ninth.

YANKS TAKE PAIR FROM RED SOX

Win, 4-0 and 8-4, as Ruth Takes Home Run Lead.

NEW YORK, June 6 (A.P.).—The Yankees wound up their home stand today by taking two games from the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 0 and 8 to 4. The double victory gave them eight in a row and eight straight over Boston.

The Sox rapped Herb Pennock freely in the opener, but he kept their 11 hits widely spaced and, with the aid of three double plays, allowed only two runners to reach third.

Ruth Takes Home Run Lead.

Babe Ruth's eleventh home run of the season, giving him the lead in both major leagues, was the big blow of the second game, which the Yanks won by rallies in the sixth and seventh innings. Bill Dickey also hit a homer to put the Yanks in the lead for the first time.

Late Tiger Rally Beats Indians, 5-2

Cleveland, June 6 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers won their third game in the current series with the Cleveland Indians today by taking advantage of Indian miscues in the late innings. The score was 5 to 2.

Young Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe held Cleveland batters to seven hits, retiring the side in order in the last four innings. Mel Harder, starting pitcher for the Indians, was the loser.

Harder had a 2-to-1 lead until the seventh inning, when he made a wild throw that led to 2 Detroit runs. The Tigers drove him from the mound in the eighth and added another run off Clint Brown in the ninth after Dick Porter lost a fly in the sun.

Bottles Rain, Fists Fly as Cards Win

Dean and Derringer in Pregame Battle as Reds Bow, 6-2.

Manager, Player Are Chased; Police Protect Umpires.

CINCINNATI, June 6 (A.P.).—The Cardinals of St. Louis and the Cincinnati Reds battled today in a riotous game heralded by a fight between Dizzy Dean, of the Cards, and Paul Derringer, of the Reds. The Cards won, 6 to 2.

A Cardinal player was struck by a pop bottle hurled from the stands. A woman fan came near being struck by another. Acting Manager Jewel Ens, of the Reds, was ejected from the field for too vigorous protest of an umpire's decision. A Cardinal, Watkins, also was thrown out, and at the end the umpires, Barr and Pfirman, were escorted from the field by private police, while a ladies' day crowd howled disapproval.

Whitehead Struck By Bottle.

One of the bottles struck Burgess Whitehead, Cardinal second baseman, on the right shoulder as he stood near the dugout, in the ninth. The woman who narrowly escaped being hit by the other bottle was sitting in a box near first base. Both missiles were tossed from the upper stands.

Though it was ladies' day, cheers greeted the Dean-Derringer tilt in batting practice before the game. Howls of disapproval were directed at the umpires after the game.

Derringer and Dean clashed, the Reds pitcher said, because Dean had been "riding the life out of me." Meeting Dean in midfield during practice, Derringer said he demanded if Dean meant "all the names" he had been calling his Cincinnati rival, and being told Dean meant "every word," swung hard with his right.

Derringer said the blow struck Dean in the eye. Dean said he blocked it, and later invited inspection of the eye as proof. After the blow was stru

Unbeaten Filly Wins by Length Over Technocracy.

Sation Takes Second Straight in Belmont Feature.

WASHINGTON PARK, Chicago, Ill., June 6 (A.P.).—Miss Patience, unbeaten filly from the Audley Farm, owned by E. R. Jones, of Virginia, made it five victories in a row when the speedy 2-year-old won the feature race at Washington Park today.

Jockey Gilbert Elston rode the 2-year-old daughter of High Time—Duration and gained the decision by one length over Stuyvesant Peabody's Technocracy. Warren Wright's Prince Pompey, which led the field until the final jumps to the wire, finished third. Miss Patience ran the distance in 1:00 1-5, paying $8.16 in the $2 mutuels.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro had two ribs broken when he was injured in a spill in the second race. Jockey L. Ruder, whose mount also fell, was only shaken up.

Belmont Park Feature To Sation.

Belmont Park Race Track, New York, June 6 (A.P.).—Sation, George D. Widener's 3-year-old, which won a claiming stake in his first public appearance a few days ago, came right back to beat a smart field of his own age in the 7 furlongs of the Swift Stakes here this afternoon.

Favorite at 9 to 5, the gelded son of Galetian—Salacia, led E. R. Bradley's Bold Lover by two lengths to capture the $2,850 winner's share of the purse. De Valera, representing H. C. Phipps and coupled with Balios, was third, another length and a half behind.

Sation ran the distance in 1:28 2-5 over a slow track that was trying to dry out in a strong sun.

Sation, well handled by Alfred Robertson, led from flag fall to finish, never once being seriously menaced. "Robbie" broke the speedy gelding on top and took a hold as the favorite skimmed along with a smooth stride, opening up daylight. De Valera and Balios both took cracks at the leads, but by the time they reached the final furlong they knew it was too tough a job and Bold Lover came through on the inside to annex the place under strong pressure.

MACKS' BARRAGE DOWNS NATS, 8-4

The A's had their 4-1 lead after the procession of walks and doubles by Higgins and Mahaffey in the fourth inning when, for the second day, Philadelphia raised havoc with the bat.

Washington almost closed the gap in the sixth after Goslin singled and was forced by Cronin. Schulte drove a single through Higgins' legs and both runners advanced on Mahaffey's wild heave into the dirt. Kuhel's bounce to Bishop scored Cronin and Bluege's single to left scored Schulte, to leave the Nats on the short end of a 4 to 3 score.

But the A's placed the game beyond reclaim in the sixth when a couple of staccato wallops over the fence by Coleman and Cochrane followed Johnson's walk and boosted their advantage to 7 to 3. Cochrane's smack smacked Stewart off the mound. And an inning later, against the combined pitching of Bill McAfee, Bob Burke and Heinie Manush, the A's made it 8 to 3.

Williams singled off McAfee to start the eighth and Mahaffey preserved his lofty batting average for the day by laying down a sacrifice bunt. Burke went into the box to pitch to the left-handed Bishop and disposed of him with a base on balls, but Cramer singled to left and that is when Manush started pitching. He tracked down the ball and pitched it wide to Sewell at the place for an error, and Williams scored with the A's eighth run of the day.

The Nats went down fighting in the ninth when Pinch-hitter Dave Harris larruped a double to left with one out and scored when Myer bounced a single through the box, but Manush and Goslin were of no help and the Nats have yet to take the field for the last half of the ninth in the current series.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

WASHINGTON PARK, JUNE 6.

DEAR AL:

Vas you dere, Charlie? I mean, did you get aboard Unencumbered? Well, friend, it isn't necessary to hark back to the exact words, but Mrs. Bennings' lovely boy slipped you that one at a $33.72 mutuel. And now, to step out of the back-slapping department, I notice in the Belmont entries one Fighting Mike. This juvenile is named for Mike Donaldson, the World War hero, and is said to be faster than Mattern's plane. Eddie Arcaro took a mean spill in the second race today and reports bounded through the stands that he had been killed. However, the boy suffered three broken ribs and was reported "doing splendidly" tonight. All you need tomorrow, friend, is a little of what it takes and these.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—DOUBLE NUGGET has shown enough hereabouts to warrant a top selection in a field of this caliber. Shares steadying weight with several in the group. LEMISERABLE is well liked by the stable and should slide home ahead of BETTY WEE.

SECOND RACE—ETCETERA goes to the post in this sprint with the clockers' stamp of approval. Is sharp as a tack and ready to show this field some real speed. GRACIOUS GIFT, another fit one, has UNCLE HENRY to take care of in the battle for the place award.

THIRD RACE—MARTIE FLYNN ran a bang-up race for me the last time. Forced to take a nose licking but will improve enough to take care of this gang tomorrow, I do believe. MOMO scored a smashing victory the last time out over practically the same kind. CHU CHU is still a long-shot possibility.

FOURTH RACE—DUSTINA has the edge on these juvenile fillies, in my book. She will have the fleet LUNA BRIGHT to beat. MARIANA comes off a winning performance and will be dangerous.

FIFTH RACE—Now that we know MR. JOE is good, I see no reason why he can not take the measure of these. Of course, POLYDOROUS is a reliable racer and will be out there battling, but I like Mr. Joe for the main end of the purse. EBONY LADY packs a punch and will be hard to keep out of the money circle.

SIXTH RACE—YUCATAN defeated a somewhat similar field here and appears to have the edge in this. LONGUS might surprise with a sharp effort. TACK for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—BEAVER ran a fine race last week to whip a field and comes to this with the same speed. BEAU JOLIE is the one he must lick. BY GRACIOUS, with light weight, to take care of the others.

EIGHTH RACE—RED CASINO almost put me over at this track and I'm going back. PRESTIGE will draw most of the play and should go well. DUG IN was tipped several times and is a possible surprise.

Nichols-Godwin Bout Is Shifted to June 19

The scheduled 10-round match between George Nichols and Bob Godwin, which was to have opened the outdoor boxing season at Twin City Arena, near Laurel, next Monday, has been shifted to June 19, Promoter Charlie Cornell last night announced.

Nichols asked local officials to give him an extra week to train for the fight, it was stated. An all-star card is being arranged.

Boys, Juniors Tennis Draws Many Entries

With first-round matches scheduled Saturday morning at 9 o'clock on the Wardman Hotel courts, a brisk pick-up in entries for the Washington boys and junior tennis tournaments is reported by Bill Shreve, secretary of the Washington Tennis Association, sponsor of the affair. Shreve will accept entries up until 6 p. m. Friday at the Tennis Shop, 1019 Fifteenth street northwest.

Between 30 and 40 entries are expected in the junior class and almost as many are looked for in the boys division. Entrance fee for both is $1, which includes cost of balls for the entire tournament and use of the courts.

Equipoise 1-2 Favorite in Suburban

Whitney Ace Carries 132 Pounds Today in 47th Running.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, June 6 (A.P.).—Carrying the crushing burden of 132 pounds, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, greatest of American thoroughbreds, will make his second start in four days when he opposes eight other high-class colts in the forty-seventh running of the Suburban Handicap over one and one-quarter miles, at Belmont Park tomorrow.

Although asked to give from 9 to 25 pounds to his rivals, the weight, four more pounds than he packed to victory in the Metropolitan Mile last Saturday, is not expected to stop Equipoise. He gave away as many pounds in the Metropolitan and finished four lengths to the good, under wraps.

May Match Famous Racer.

A victory in the Suburban will place the big Whitney speedster in a position to equal the performance of the famous Whisk Broom II, which won the Metropolitan, Suburban and Brooklyn Handicaps in 1913, the former under the heavy weight of 136 pounds in the remarkable time of 2 minutes flat. The Brooklyn will be renewed during the Aqueduct meeting.

As the result of his easy victory in the Metropolitan and also the Philadelphia Handicap earlier in the season, Equipoise is the choice at 1 to 2 to win the purse of $5,000 added. James Butler's Questionnaire, which made his seasonal debut in the Metropolitan and finished fourth, will run coupled with Apprentice.

The remainder of the overnight entries are Allan Ryan's Larranaga, the Wheatley Stable's Dark Secret and Blenheim, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Stepenfetchit, W. R. Coe's Osculator and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Dynastic, the only 3-year-old in the field. Dynastic, also eligible for the $50,000 Belmont Stakes Saturday, will carry the lightest burden of 110 pounds.

CARDINALS WIN IN HECTIC BATTLE

A lull came until the ninth, when Medwick, a factor in every Cardinal run, drove a long fly to Rice, scoring Hallahan ahead of him. Harry Rice tried to catch it, but hit the fence and was badly shaken. He stayed in the game.

Ens was sent out when he protested a decision calling Moore out after Wilson of the Cards had taken his foul fly, run into a fence, and dropped the ball. It was then the pop bottles began to fly.

ST. JOE, DOR-A IN CAPITAL CITY FEATURE

Sunday Card Calls for 11 Games

Griffs and Millers for 2d Place in Unlimited Race.

ST. JOSEPH'S A. C. will make its bid for the leadership of the unlimited division of the Capital City League Sunday when Frank Cinotti's veteran combination squares off with Allie Bower's youthful but powerful Dor-A Club in the feature of an 11-game card.

Dor-A stepped up to the top of the loop last Sunday by walloping Willie Glascoe's surprised and previously undefeated Griffith-Consumer nine, 2-0, sending the latter into a three-way tie for third place. Dor-A is the only undefeated team remaining, but the suburbanites will have to exert the pressure if they hope to keep their fair name undefiled.

One team less will be in the fight for second place after Sunday for the Griffs are down for a battle with the 1932 senior champions, Miller Furniture Co. The latter got back in stride Sunday, after finishing on the short end of a 2-1 tiff with Certified Barbers the previous week, and swamped the Federal A. C., 15-1.

Goodacre's Plays Oxon Hill.

Boasting two consecutive victories, including the scalp of the highly respected Georgia Avenue Business Men's Club, Goodacre's is slated to oppose Oxon Hill in the outstanding tilt in the junior division. Winning by an 18-4 margin over the Business Men, who copped the bunting in 1932 as the Georgetown, A. C., Goodacre's left little doubt in the minds of the fans concerning its superiority. It is a slight favorite over Oxon Hill.

The league-leading Versis midgets are down for a game with the fighting Washington Maid tossers in what looms as the outstanding game scheduled in the midget division. Versis hopes to stretch its winning streak to three straight.

Directors of the league met last night and decided to discontinue play in the senior division after consulting with managers of the three teams entered. Only two games have been played, and since only three of the four senior teams in the field this year were competing, it was decided to abandon plans for the remainder of the season.

Stadium A. C. Nine Rejected.

The application of the Stadium A. C. for admission to the unlimited division was rejected. The team did not apply for a franchise until after the lists had been closed and a schedule drawn up, and to admit it would disrupt the schedule for the remainder of the season.

A protest filed by the Wolta Photographers was taken under advisement. President Richard S. Tennyson announced that he would poll the members of the board after a report has been received from the umpire in charge of the game and announce the result the latter part of this week.

Wolta played the Colonials, losing by a score of 9-3 in a game terminated in the seventh inning. Play was halted because a second game was scheduled on the same field at 3 o'clock, at which time the umpire stopped the proceedings.

DOR-A VS. SEAMAN GUNNERS.

Dor-A, leading the Capital City League unlimited race, will engage the strong Seaman Gunner nine today at 5 p. m., on the Navy Yard field. All players are urged to report promptly.

Highest Athletic Honor At G. W. Awarded Fenlon

3-Sports Star Voted Delta Tau Delta Gold Medal.

JOHNNY FENLON, greatest all-around athlete figure in modern George Washington University history, last night received one of the most coveted honors bestowed within the university when he was awarded the Delta Tau Delta medal at class night exercises.

The medal, presented by the national fraternity of the name it bears, is awarded each year "to that member of the senior class who, throughout his course, has done the most constructive work in student activities."

For the past three years, Fenlon has starred in football and basket ball for George Washington. He was generously mentioned for all-American honors last fall after completing a sensational season as half back and quarter back of the best Colonial eleven in the past two decades. Fenlon played guard in basket ball, and third base on the 1932 G. W. baseball team, for which he batted nearly .600.

A native of Cheboygan, Mich., Fenlon will graduate from the local institution tonight with the degree of bachelor of science.

Carolan Captains Two Teams at G.U.

Tommy Carolan, one of the few three-lettermen ever developed at the Hilltop, will have the unusual distinction of leading two Georgetown teams next year. The Arverne (Long Island) youth will captain both the football and basket ball teams.

Captains in all branches of sport were announced yesterday by athletic authorities. John E. O'Rourke, of Providence, R. I., has been elected to lead the baseball team. He is an outfielder.

Walter R. Tynan, of New York City, succeeds Jack Slattery as captain of the golf team, while George D. Crowley, of Chicago, will lead the tennis squad. Wilmer Bradley, of Connellsville, Pa., an outstanding athlete at the school for the past two years, has been named to succeed Al Kelly as track captain.

Managers for the 1933-34 teams are as follows: Football, Raymond Sullivan, Brooklyn; basket ball, Howard Gunlocke, Wayland, N. Y.; baseball, Thomas D. Stapleton, Auburn, N. Y.; track, Frank Gerli, New York, and minor sports, Walter O. Briggs, Detroit, president

Congressional Lists Golf Play June 20-23

The board of governors of the Congressional Country Club has authorized the holding of the invitation golf tournament on June 20, 21, 22 and 23, according to an announcement made last night by Henry J. Richardson, chairman of the golf and greens committee.

This announcement sets at rest recent rumors that Congressional would follow Columbia and Indian Spring in calling off their invitation events.

Competition will be for the Open Tournament Cup donated by former President Herbert Hoover in 1925, when he was Secretary of Commerce in the Coolidge Cabinet.

WOODLEY JUNIORS AHEAD.

Woodley Juniors scored a 7 to 6 victory over the Regal A. C. in a 13-inning game yesterday. O'Brien's home-run in the ninth inning tied the score for the Regals. Kelly's single in the thirteenth inning scored Case with the winning run.

Dempsey, Tunney At Muldoon Rites

Valhalla, N. Y., June 6 (A.P.).—Through the brilliant sunshine of a June afternoon, the friends of William Muldoon today carried the body of sports, "Solid Man" to its final resting place in Kensico Cemetery on the edge of this little Westchester town so aptly named for the burial ground of such as he.

Simple funeral services, with a prayer by a Catholic priest and recitation of the "Lord's Prayer" by his friends, were said at his home in Purchase and a swift-moving cavalcade then brought the body to Valhalla for a soldier's burial.

Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, both former heavyweight champions and the latter one of his closest friends, were there as mourners with the current champion, Jack Sharkey.

Mrs. Tschiffely Wins Golf at Wash. G. & C. C.

Mrs. Douglas Tschiffely won first prize in the putting contest for women at Washington Golf and Country Club yesterday.

She sank a 30-footer on the eighteenth green to eliminate Miss Ida Claggett, the only other survivor from a field of 18 contestants.

Mrs. J. L. Feiser won the consolation prize.

Prizes were awarded by the women's golf committee of the club, of which Mrs. Tschiffely is chairman. Mrs. C. B. Stewart is chairman of the prize and handicap committee.

The Tschiffely Cup tournament on June 14 and 15 is the next important event on the Washington Golf and Country Club calendar.

UNIONISTS CANCEL GAMES.

Matthew Mattare, manager of the Federal Employe Unionists, yesterday announced that the Government nine has decided to abandon its independent activity and consequently has canceled a game Saturday with Majestic Radio and a tilt Sunday with the Dickerson, Md., outfit.

Upsets Mark Women's Golf

Mrs. Hill, Miss Garber Only Choices Win Muny Play.

A SERIES of violent upsets, in which every favored star with the exception of two was victimized, shook the hills and dales of Rock Creek's golf course yesterday as the first round of match play in the annual women's public links championship came to a close.

Escaping defeat were Mrs. Mae Hill, the medalist, and Betty Garber, whose 92 tied for second place in the medal competition with two others.

Both Mrs. Hill, 1932 finalist, and Miss Garber won their matches handily, both by 5 and 4. Eight up at the turn, Mrs. Hill crushed Mrs. M. E. Ferris, while Miss Garber had easy coasting in trimming Mrs. J. A. Taylor.

Four Favorites Are Beaten.

In the interim the rest of the favorites were losing heart-breaking matches, all by 1-up counts.

Mrs. Nick Altrock, wife of the Washington baseball club's comedian-coach, was the first to feel the sting of defeat. Three up and 4 to go in her match with Mrs. G. H. Parker, Mrs. Altrock saw her lead erased at the home green when she muffed a tiny putt. On the nineteenth hole, Mrs. Parker played four good shots to win the match.

Another to fall by the wayside was Mrs. J. T. Powell, of Manor Golf Club, winner of the Phyllis Keeler Memorial Tournament, who bowed to Mrs. N. E. Wessells by 1 up. Mrs. Powell, who had a 92 in her medal round Monday, held a 2-up lead going to the tenth.

Evelyn Glaviss, semifinalist last season, was blasted out of the picture by Mrs. Peggy Wooton by 1 up on the nineteenth hole. Mrs. Wooten made a brilliant rally to overcome her rival after being 4 down at the turn. Despite her defeat, Mrs. Glaviss shot an 89, while Mrs. Wooton had a 90.

The fourth of the favorites to lose was Mrs. Gordon Rule, who was put out by Mrs. Hope Wilkinson, also by a 1-up margin. They were even at the turn.

Two Matches Go by Default.

Mrs. Florence Godfrey, 1932 semifinalist, won her match by default from Mrs. G. W. Curtis, while Ellen Kincaid advanced to the second round by winning by default from Virginia Williams, of Congressional.

In today's matches, the first of which will start at 9 o'clock, Mrs. Hill will meet Mrs. Parker, Miss Kincaid opposes Mrs. Godfrey, Mrs. Wessells faces Mrs. Wooton and Mrs. Wilkinson takes on Miss Garber. Yesterday's losers will be bracketed in a consolation flight.

Results:

Mrs. Mae Hill beat Mrs. M. E. Ferris, 5 and 4; Mrs. G. H. Parker beat Mrs. Nick Altrock, 19th hole; Miss Ellen Kincaid beat Miss Virginia Williams by default.

Mrs. Florence Godfrey beat Mrs. G. W. Curtis by default; Mrs. N. E. Wessells beat Mrs. J. T. Powell, 1 up; Mrs. Peggy Wooton beat Mrs. Evelyn Glaviss, 1 up, nineteenth hole.

Mrs. Hope Wilkinson beat Mrs. Gordon Rule, 1 up; Miss Betty Garber beat Mrs. J. A. Taylor, 5 and 4; Mrs. Schweinhort beat Mrs. G. J. James, 4 and 3.

Five District Golf Women Qualify

Two Withdraw From Match Play at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 6.—Scoring the lowest figure—86—that has been made by a woman at the Five Farms course for years, Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow, of Elkridge Hunt Club, six times State champion and present defender, easily took the medal prize in the qualifying round of the Baltimore Country Club's tournament today.

Mrs. Jerome Sloman, of Suburban Club, Baltimore district women's title holder, approached the nearest to Mrs. Morrow's score with 92.

Seventy-one women qualified, five coming from the District of Columbia. Those whose scores were under 108 made the championship flight. Two of the Washington women, however, who would have been in the first sixteen, withdrew. Mrs. H. A. Knox, with 103, and Mrs. G. M. Dowdall, 93, both of the Congressional Country Club, said they would be able to participate only one more day of the event.

The remaining three Washingtonians, however, all of whom were new to the course, are in the championship flight. Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, Columbia Country Club, the Middle Atlantic champion, had a 95; Mrs. Jerome Meyer, Woodmont Country Club, 98, and Mrs. Leo J. Walper, whose husband is the pro of the Bethesda Driving Range, 99.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BOBBED hair, the fashion among millions of women, is a natural trait of the woman with self-bobbing hair. She and her six children, who live in Norway, all have hair that grows out two or three inches and then breaks off, never growing any longer. Scientists investigating the strange case traced the lineage of the family back for seven generations and found it to be of pure white stock, excluding the possibility that the peculiar hair growth may be attributable to Negro blood.

Rector A. D. Danielson, Norwegian educator and himself a relative of the bobbed-haired woman, brought the case to light in publishing a record of her and his family in connection with his studies of inheritance. Rector Danielson also has this woolly hair.

The young kangaroo is far from fully developed, even for a newborn animal, when it is born. It is born in an embryonic state and transferred, helplessly immature, to its mother's pouch, where it continues to develop. This early life in the mother's pouch is comparable to prenatal development in other animals.

The force of gravity on an object moving in the direction of the earth's rotation is less than on one moving in the opposite direction. An eastbound ship, then, would weigh less than a westbound ship.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

WINNING COMPANY IN CADET DRILLING TEST

Post Staff Photos.

Company H, of Western High School, yesterday won the forty-sixth annual company competitive drill at the Griffith Stadium. Upper—Company H, which was under the command of Cadet Capt. Philip Lauman. Lower left—Brig. Gen. Charles E. Kilbourne, assistant chief of staff, U. S. A., presents the winner's flag to Sergt. Rogelio Alfaro, of the winning company. Capt. Lauman is on the right. Lower right—Sergt. Clarence W. Cox, Company A, Eastern High School (left), and First Sergt. William G. Yeabower, Company C, McKinley High School, chosen the best drilled noncommissioned officers.

WESTERN HIGH WINS FIRST DRILL HONORS AS CADETS COMPETE

Company H Has 78.7; Second Goes to Roosevelt; Third to McKinley.

Drilling with 78.7 per cent perfection, Company H, of Western High School, led by Capt. Philip Lauman, won the forty-sixth annual company competitive drill of Washington High School Cadets at Griffith Stadium yesterday afternoon, taking the victory over 29 other companies.

Second place was won by Company I, of Roosevelt, led by Capt. Alvin Ehrlich, with a score of 77.6 per cent, and third place went to Company E, of McKinley, led by Capt. William Wilson, with a score of 76.1 per cent.

Company M, of Roosevelt, led by Capt. Robert L. Freear, was given a special award for being the best company organized in February.

Maj. Hobaich Collapses.

Just as the brigade adjutant, Maurice Sinsheimer, was preparing to make his third dramatic march in the direction of the third place company, Maj. George Hobaich the brigade personnel adjutant, who with other officers, was standing before the reviewing stand, tottered and was escorted from the field in a state of collapse.

This was the only casualty throughout the entire two days of the drill. Maj. Hobaich recovered within a few minutes.

Capt. Lauman was presented with the diamond studded Allison Nailor medal by Brig. Gen. Charles E. Kilbourne, assistant chief of staff of the U. S. Army, who reviewed the drill.

Each man in the winning company received a gold button. Silver buttons were given the members of the second company, and bronze buttons to the members of the third. Members of the winning rookie company were given blue ribbons.

Burke Makes Awards.

Commander Henry S. Burke, of Federal Post, 824, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, made the awards to the second and third place companies. The McKinley High School Band, winner of the band contest several weeks ago, received its award at the conclusion of the drill, and then led the brigade from the field while thousands of school students cheered from the stands.

Perfect weather and almost impeccable drilling combined to make yesterday afternoon's exhibition one of the most successful in the history of local public schools. Col. Wallace M. Craigie, who is in charge of military instruction in the schools, said he was proud of the young men.

Gen. Kilbourne told Col. Craigie he was "highly pleased" with the performance. He made particular mention of the fine set-up and marching of the cadets and remarked they were very soldierly.

Also sharing in this enthusiasm over the drill were Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou, Assistant Superintendent Stephen E. Kramer, who is in charge of the cadets, and Second Assistant Superintendent Robert L. Haycock.

Reviewing Party List.

The reviewing party was composed of the officials already mentioned and Dr. Hayden Johnson, president of the Board of Education; Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, vice president; Isaac Gans, former member of the board, and Harry S. Hine, secretary of the board.

Judges of the drill were Capt. Carleton Smith, of the local headquarters company, U. S. Army, and First Lieut. William G. Hill and First Lieut. Thomas H. Allen, also of the local headquarters company.

Col. Goring Bliss, son of the late Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, announced last night on behalf of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, that service sabers will be presented today to the first and second lieutenants of the victorious company. They are Edwin Bell and Edward H. Fuller. The presentation will be made at Western High School.

Eavesdropping Ordered

D. C. Commissioners Direct Employment of Special Switchboard Operator to Check Conversations in Effort to Reduce Telephone Bill.

District employes who persist in using municipal telephones to make personal calls will have to be careful of their conversation, for the District Commissioners yesterday authorized eavesdropping by a special switchboard operator in a new effort to cut the District's telephone bill 25 per cent.

Adopting a report submitted by the economy committee, the Commissioners instructed department heads to tell all employes that District telephones are to be used for official calls only, except in cases of emergency, when permission must be granted by the department head. This includes schools and other institutions using the municipal telephone circuits.

Department heads were also instructed to report the minimum number of telephones that can be used in their jurisdiction.

The electrical engineer was instructed to place on duty a special operator to "spot" unofficial calls. Offenders will be reported to department heads.

About a year ago District officials made a similar attempt, without the eavesdropping, to reduce the municipal telephone bill, but with only temporary success. The cost of District telephone service jumped from $2,228.47 in the fiscal year 1930 over 1929 and $1,516.52 for the fiscal year 1932.

SENATE COMMITTEE MAY HAND DISTRICT RENT QUIZ TO P.U.C.

Meanwhile, Senator King Plans to Put Teeth in Present Recommendations.

The Public Utilities Commission may take over the Senate District Committee's rent investigation until Congress returns next January, under a resolution favorably reported to the Senate yesterday, following a committee poll.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), of Kansas, would give the commission power both "to receive and adjust complaints" growing out of the local rent situation. A complete report would be filed with the committee when Congress returns after recess.

Chairman William H. King of the Senate District Committee will follow up the report today with a resolution requesting $2,500 with which to finance the investigation.

Capper Conducts Poll.

Meanwhile, Senator King plans to put teeth in rent recommendations already made by the committee. He announced he will write Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride to draft immediately proposed legislation along lines suggested in previous committee reports.

Yesterday's committee poll was conducted by Senator Capper after his rent investigating subcommittee had acted favorably on the resolution. The report was filed just before the Senate recessed.

Will Appeal to Bride.

Senator King said last night that there are several recommendations in the committee's rent report that should be immediately embodied in legislation. He said he will write Corporation Counsel Bride insisting that the proposed bills be drafted at once.

The recommendations suggested bills prescribing heavy penalties for usurious practices, collection of rent and occupancy data from landlords, rigid enforcement of laws regulating insanitary structures and minimum requirements for heat in rented apartments.

WIFE HELD DESPITE DYING MAN'S WORDS

Weidemans' Child Tells of Fight Suggestion Before Fatal Shooting.

With his dying breath, Philip J. Weideman, 38-year-old District employe, early yesterday insisted to police that two bullets in his back were accidentally self-inflicted. His dramatic assertion, however, failed to keep his wife, Mrs. Frances Weideman, from being held pending a coroner's inquest, scheduled for 11 a. m. today.

Mrs. Weideman was arrested Monday night when her husband was found dying, two bullets through his back, in a bedroom of their home, 334 Tenth street northeast. The man succumbed several hours later in Casualty Hospital.

In sworn statements given to police by William Long, 54, a roomer at the home, it was declared the shooting followed a quarrel between Mr. and Mrs. Weideman. Long said he witnessed the shooting and that Mrs. Weideman was fingering the gun a short time before the shots were heard.

Two of the Weideman children, Ada, 15, and Barbara, 10, were asleep in the house. Barbara said she heard her mother say "Let's pull down the shades and fight." A few moments later two shots rang out. Joe, 8, their only son, was not at home.

Mrs. Weideman, throughout a severe grilling by police, steadfastly denied firing the shots.

$15,000 Suit Is Filed In Automobile Crash

A sum of $15,000 was asked in a suit, filed yesterday in the Prince Georges County Circuit Court by Anna Stewart Scott, for damages received in an accident with a car driven by John Van Wagoner.

The damage suit for the accident, which occurred in Baltimore, April 4, was filed against Mrs. Phoebe T. Van Wagoner, wife of the driver and owner of the car, C. C. Marbury and T. Howard Duckett are attorneys for the plaintiff.

$45,095 in Collateral Collected by Police

The Second Police Precinct made the largest collateral collection during March, a detailed audit submitted yesterday to the District Commissioners by the auditor's office showed. This precinct collected $9,646. All precincts, the Traffic Bureau, the Women's Bureau and the Detective Bureau collected $45,095.

The auditor's report stated that "considerable improvement in the records kept by the various precincts" had been made since the previous audit.

D. C. RELIEF FUNDS INCREASED $140,767

Federal Aid Will Permit Weekly Outlay of $45,000 for Unemployed.

The emergency relief committee of the Board of Public Welfare yesterday raised the maximum weekly expenditure for unemployment aid in the District from $42,000 to $45,000, because of the receipt of $140,767 from the Federal relief administrator.

The scale of relief, now administered to 10,000 families, will not be increased at this time, nor will many more than the normal number of new applications be added to the list of those receiving aid, Public Welfare Director George S. Wilson said, because of the uncertainty of the relief items in the District appropriations bill.

Whether the welfare board will get $1,250,000 or $1,500,000 or an opportunity to use additional funds, if needed, from the District surplus will not be known until congressional conferees report on the District bill.

Leroy A. Halbert, director of unemployment relief, reported to the committee yesterday that there is on hand, as of last Saturday but including the Federal grant, $210,323.50, which will make available $52,580.87 a week until the end of the fiscal year. This is more than $7,000 above the maximum expenditure allowed.

Weekly expenditures for the last five weeks, according to the report, have increased from $37,944.47 to $46,517.27, reached last week. Since the relief work started last August, $1,104,664.41 has been expended for direct relief and $77,946.12 for administration.

Last Saturday there were 10,590 cases on hand, with an average of four persons to a case, while the number of families actually under care was 9,619. In addition, 327 applications were still pending awaiting interviews. A total of 12,221 applications have been rejected.

Director Wilson said that the relief organization has taken practically all destitute cases resulting from unemployment out of the hands of the charitable agencies.

CONFESSIONS HELD IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Pair, Charged With Murder, Tell How Mrs. Cumberland Fractured Skull.

Two men will be arraigned on a charge of murder at the Police Court this morning in connection with the death of Mrs. Eva Cumberland, who was found lying in an alley in the rear of the 700 block of Ninth street southeast last April 8.

According to police the two men, who were arrested yesterday, made a confession which exhonerated two men who have been held at the District Jail awaiting jury action since shortly after the body of Mrs. Cumberland was found.

Edward Thomas Halsiup, 23, of 1117 D street northeast, and Edward Pritchey Harris, 54, who gave his address as the rear of 613 L street northeast, were arrested yesterday by Detective Sergeants T. M. McVeary and Howard Ogle, after an extensive investigation. A charge of murder was placed against them.

They were said to have confessed that Mrs. Cumberland suffered fatal injuries during a drinking party at Harris' home. She was said to have fallen through an opening in the garage-like structure, and fractured her skull. The two men stated that they took the woman to the Ninth street alley in a truck and left her there.

She died without gaining consciousness. Wilbur Allen, 34, of Camp Spring, Md., and Edward Taylor, 32, were cleared by the confession. William Albert Halsiup, 16, 729 Tenth street southeast, was held as a Government witness.

Band Concert Canceled.

The concert by the Marine Band at the Capitol tonight has been canceled. The band will give a concert at the Pan-American Union then.

$10 Vacation

Diversified Sports in D. C. Offer Recreation at Nominal Cost.

A two-week vacation for less than $10, without leaving home, has been planned by officials of Washington's park system to show the recreational resources of the city. The plan, they point out, offers a happy solution to problems created by pay cuts and administrative furloughs.

The first day's program begins with golf on one of the public courses in the morning, a swim at the McKinley Pool in the afternoon, and a ride to Haina Point at night. Hikes and picnics in Rock Creek Park, tennis on the public courts, fishing in the channel and Tidal Basin and baseball and polo games are listed as available attractions. Boating on the Tidal Basin and horseback riding are also possible, although they are among the more expensive sports.

166 PER CENT BOOST IN D. C. TAXES CITED

Taxpayers' Society Demands Cut and Points to Pay Reductions.

"While practically every commodity consumed by the residents of the District has decreased in cost from 30 to 50 per cent since 1920, the local tax bill during that period has risen 166 per cent."

That statement was made yesterday by the Washington Taxpayers Protective Association, which is waging a campaign to have the tax burden for the fiscal year 1934 cut as much as the reduced appropriations for the coming year will permit.

Edward C. Baltz, chairman of the board of the newly formed group, requested the Commissioners on Saturday to grant an opportunity for the association to present its reasons why taxes must be cut.

"As the price of all commodities has dropped, wages, salaries and incomes have come down. This has made it increasingly difficult, and in thousands of cases, impossible to pay taxes. High taxes kill themselves. It is largely for this reason that the revenues of the District have fallen 6 per cent during this year compared with last.

"It is essential that the local tax burden follow the trend of every other cost. It must be drastically reduced. Even though the entire estimated surplus could be turned into a tax cut, Washington taxpayers during 1934 would still pay over 100 per cent more per capita to run the local government than they did right after the World War."

School Teachers' Union Topic.

"The need and work of school teachers' unions" will be the topic considered at an open meeting of the District Public School Association tonight in the board room of the District Building.

GIBBS FEARS YOUTH DROWNED IS HIS SON

Capital Father Awaits Lock of Hair From Canada to Test Identity.

Announcing he was "afraid it was true," Henry C. Gibbs, father of Henry Huntington Gibbs, missing University of Pennsylvania student, last night said there was only the shadow of a doubt that the body of a youth found Sunday in a Winnipeg, Manitoba, river, was that of his son.

Awaiting the arrival of a note and lock of hair being forwarded by Canadian authorities, Mr. Gibbs temporarily postponed his trip to identify the body. It was learned that agents of the State Department were attempting to complete verification of stories that the youth had been identified through circulars sent out shortly after his disappearance.

Clothes worn by the man found floating in the Assiniboine River failed to tally with anything the Gibbs youth owned. His father said that was one of the few hindrances in completing identification.

The dead youth wore a yellow-checked shirt and purple suspenders, Mr. Gibbs said his son possessed nothing like that.

Young Gibbs, who lived at 1821 Newton street northwest, disappeared last January 6.
